BOZO: Hello! Hello! I'm Bozo, the clown!
I'm going to take you on a trip to the circus.
Start on Page 1 in your picture book.

Ha! That's a picture of me.
Now, whenever I blow my whistle,
That means you must turn the page
to see the other pictures in the book.
Now, don't turn the page yet —
Wait for the whistle.

Just follow me, Bozo, the clown,
And I'll take you to see Circus Town!

Now turn the page.

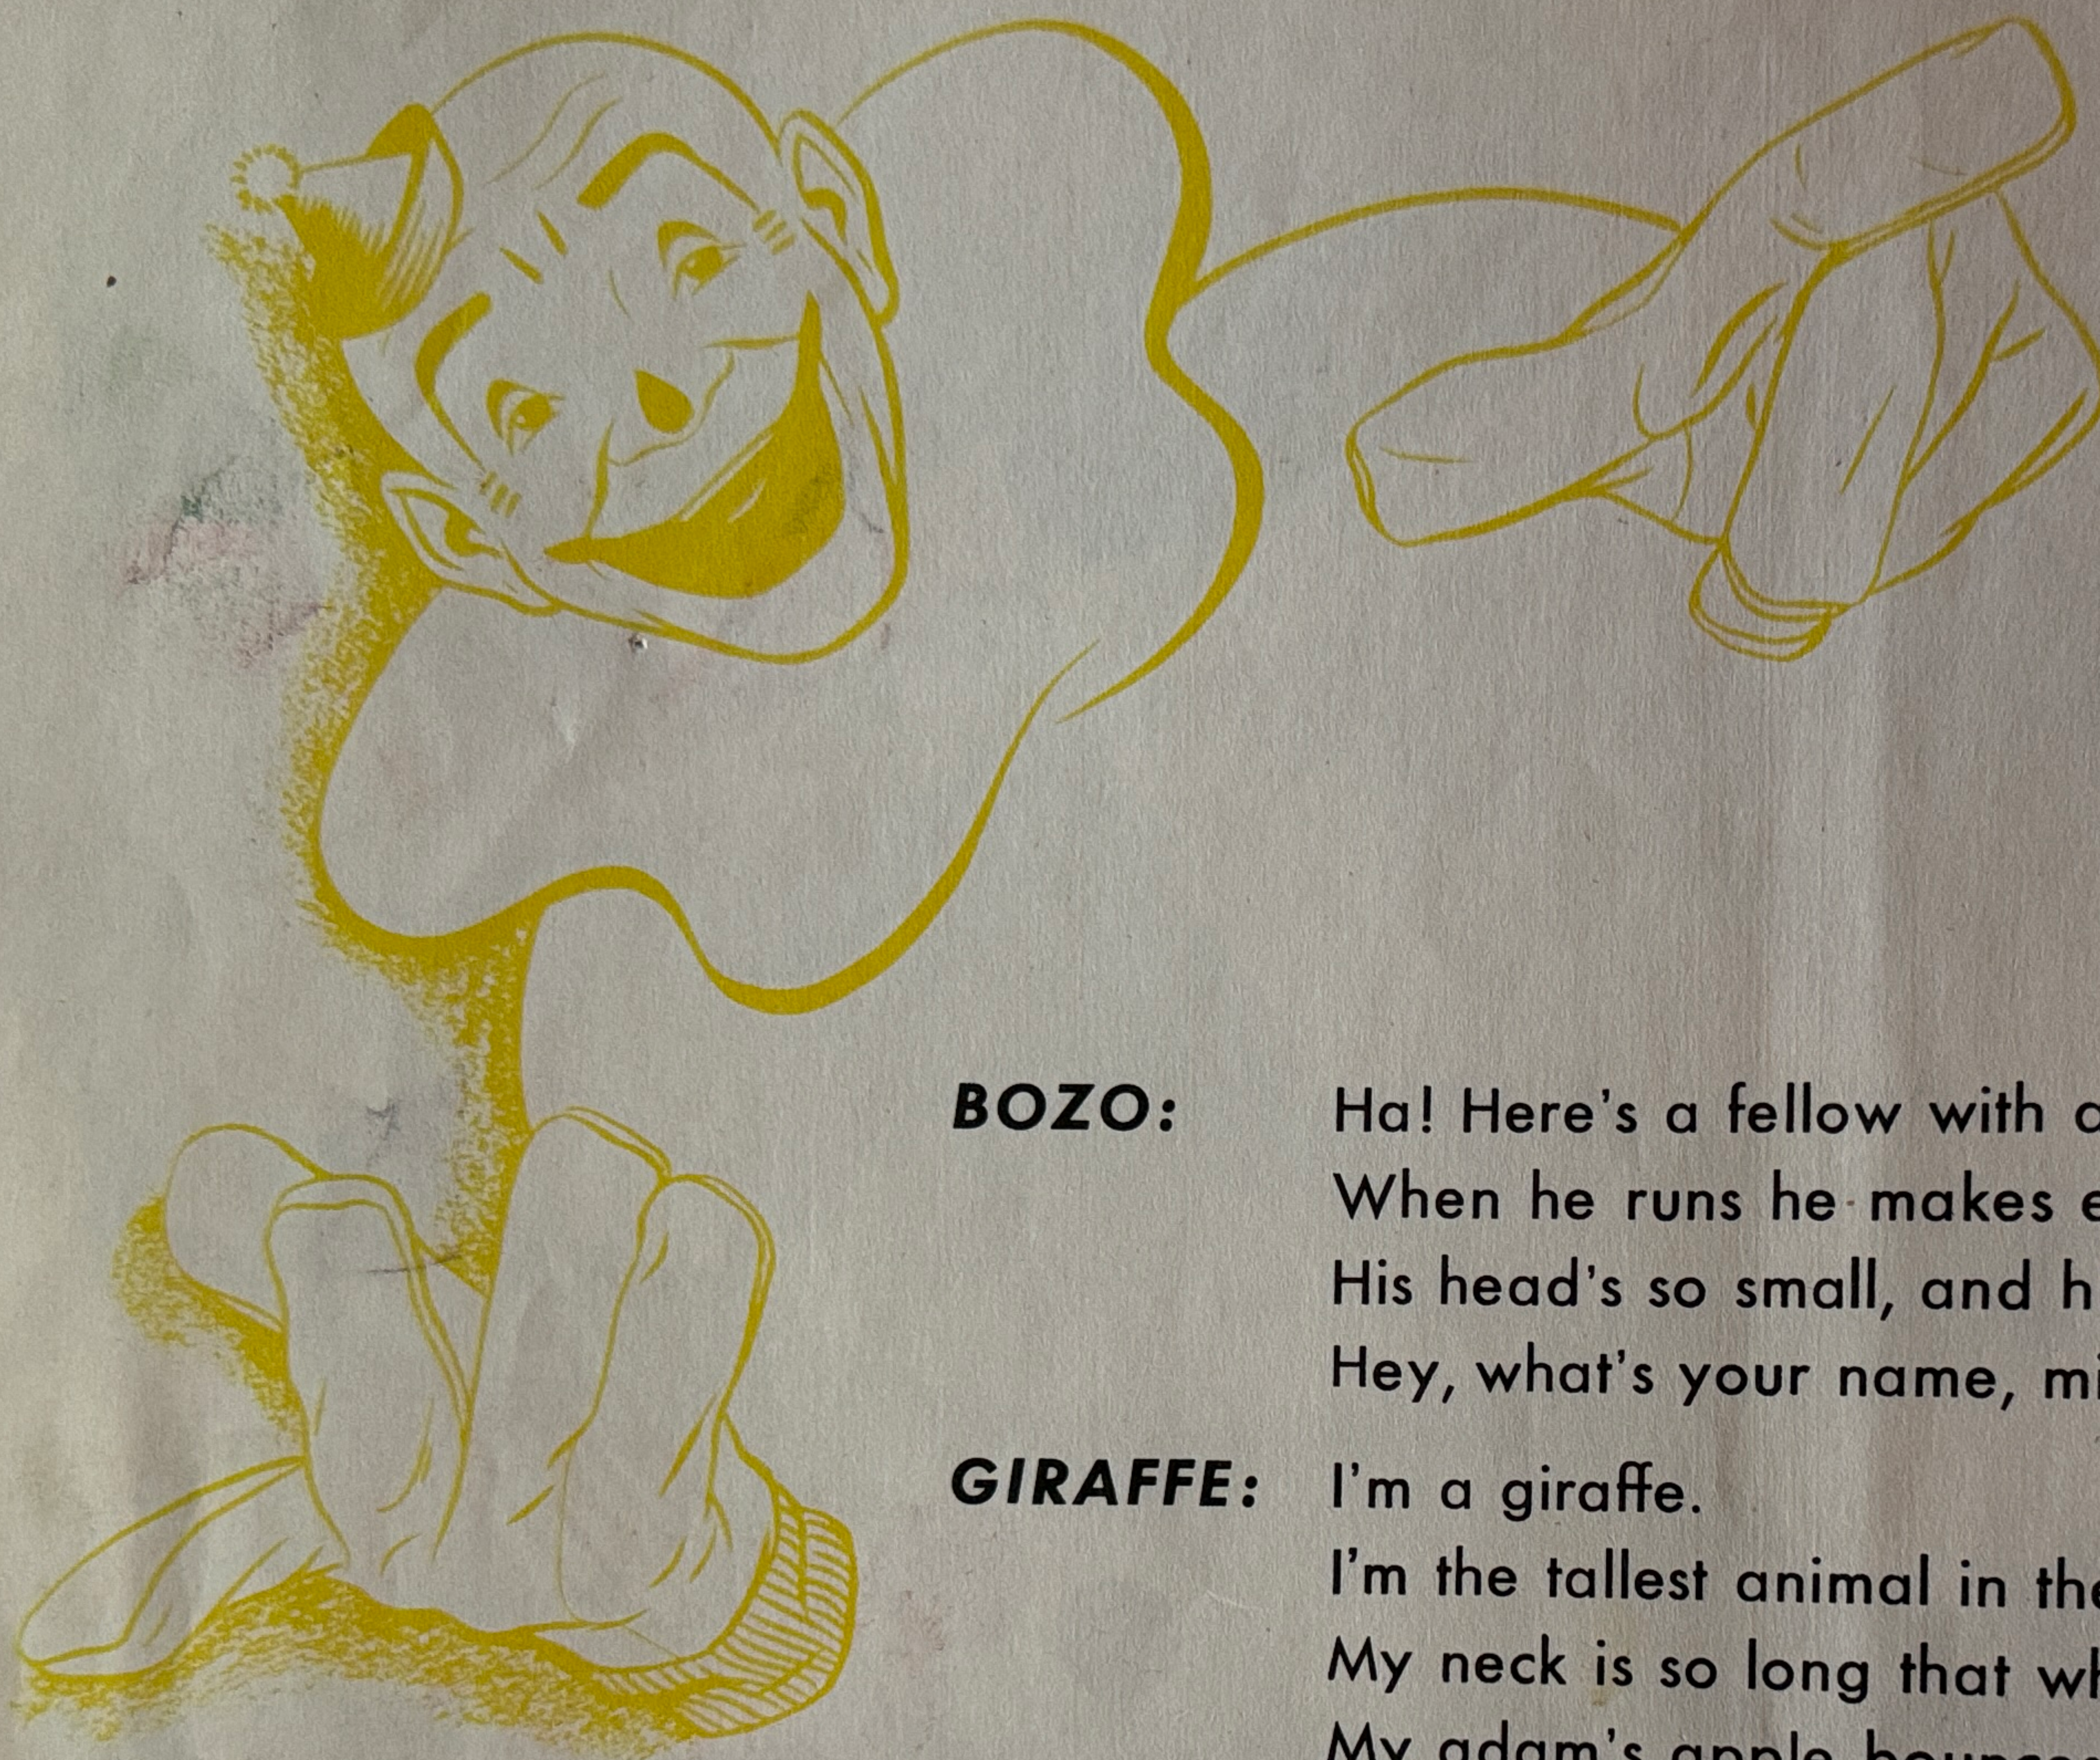

BOZO: Here is the big circus tent
Where all the animals and people do wonderful things!
Let's visit the animal tent first.

BOZO: Ha! Here's a fellow with a very long neck,
When he runs he makes everyone laugh!
His head's so small, and his legs so tall —
Hey, what's your name, mister?

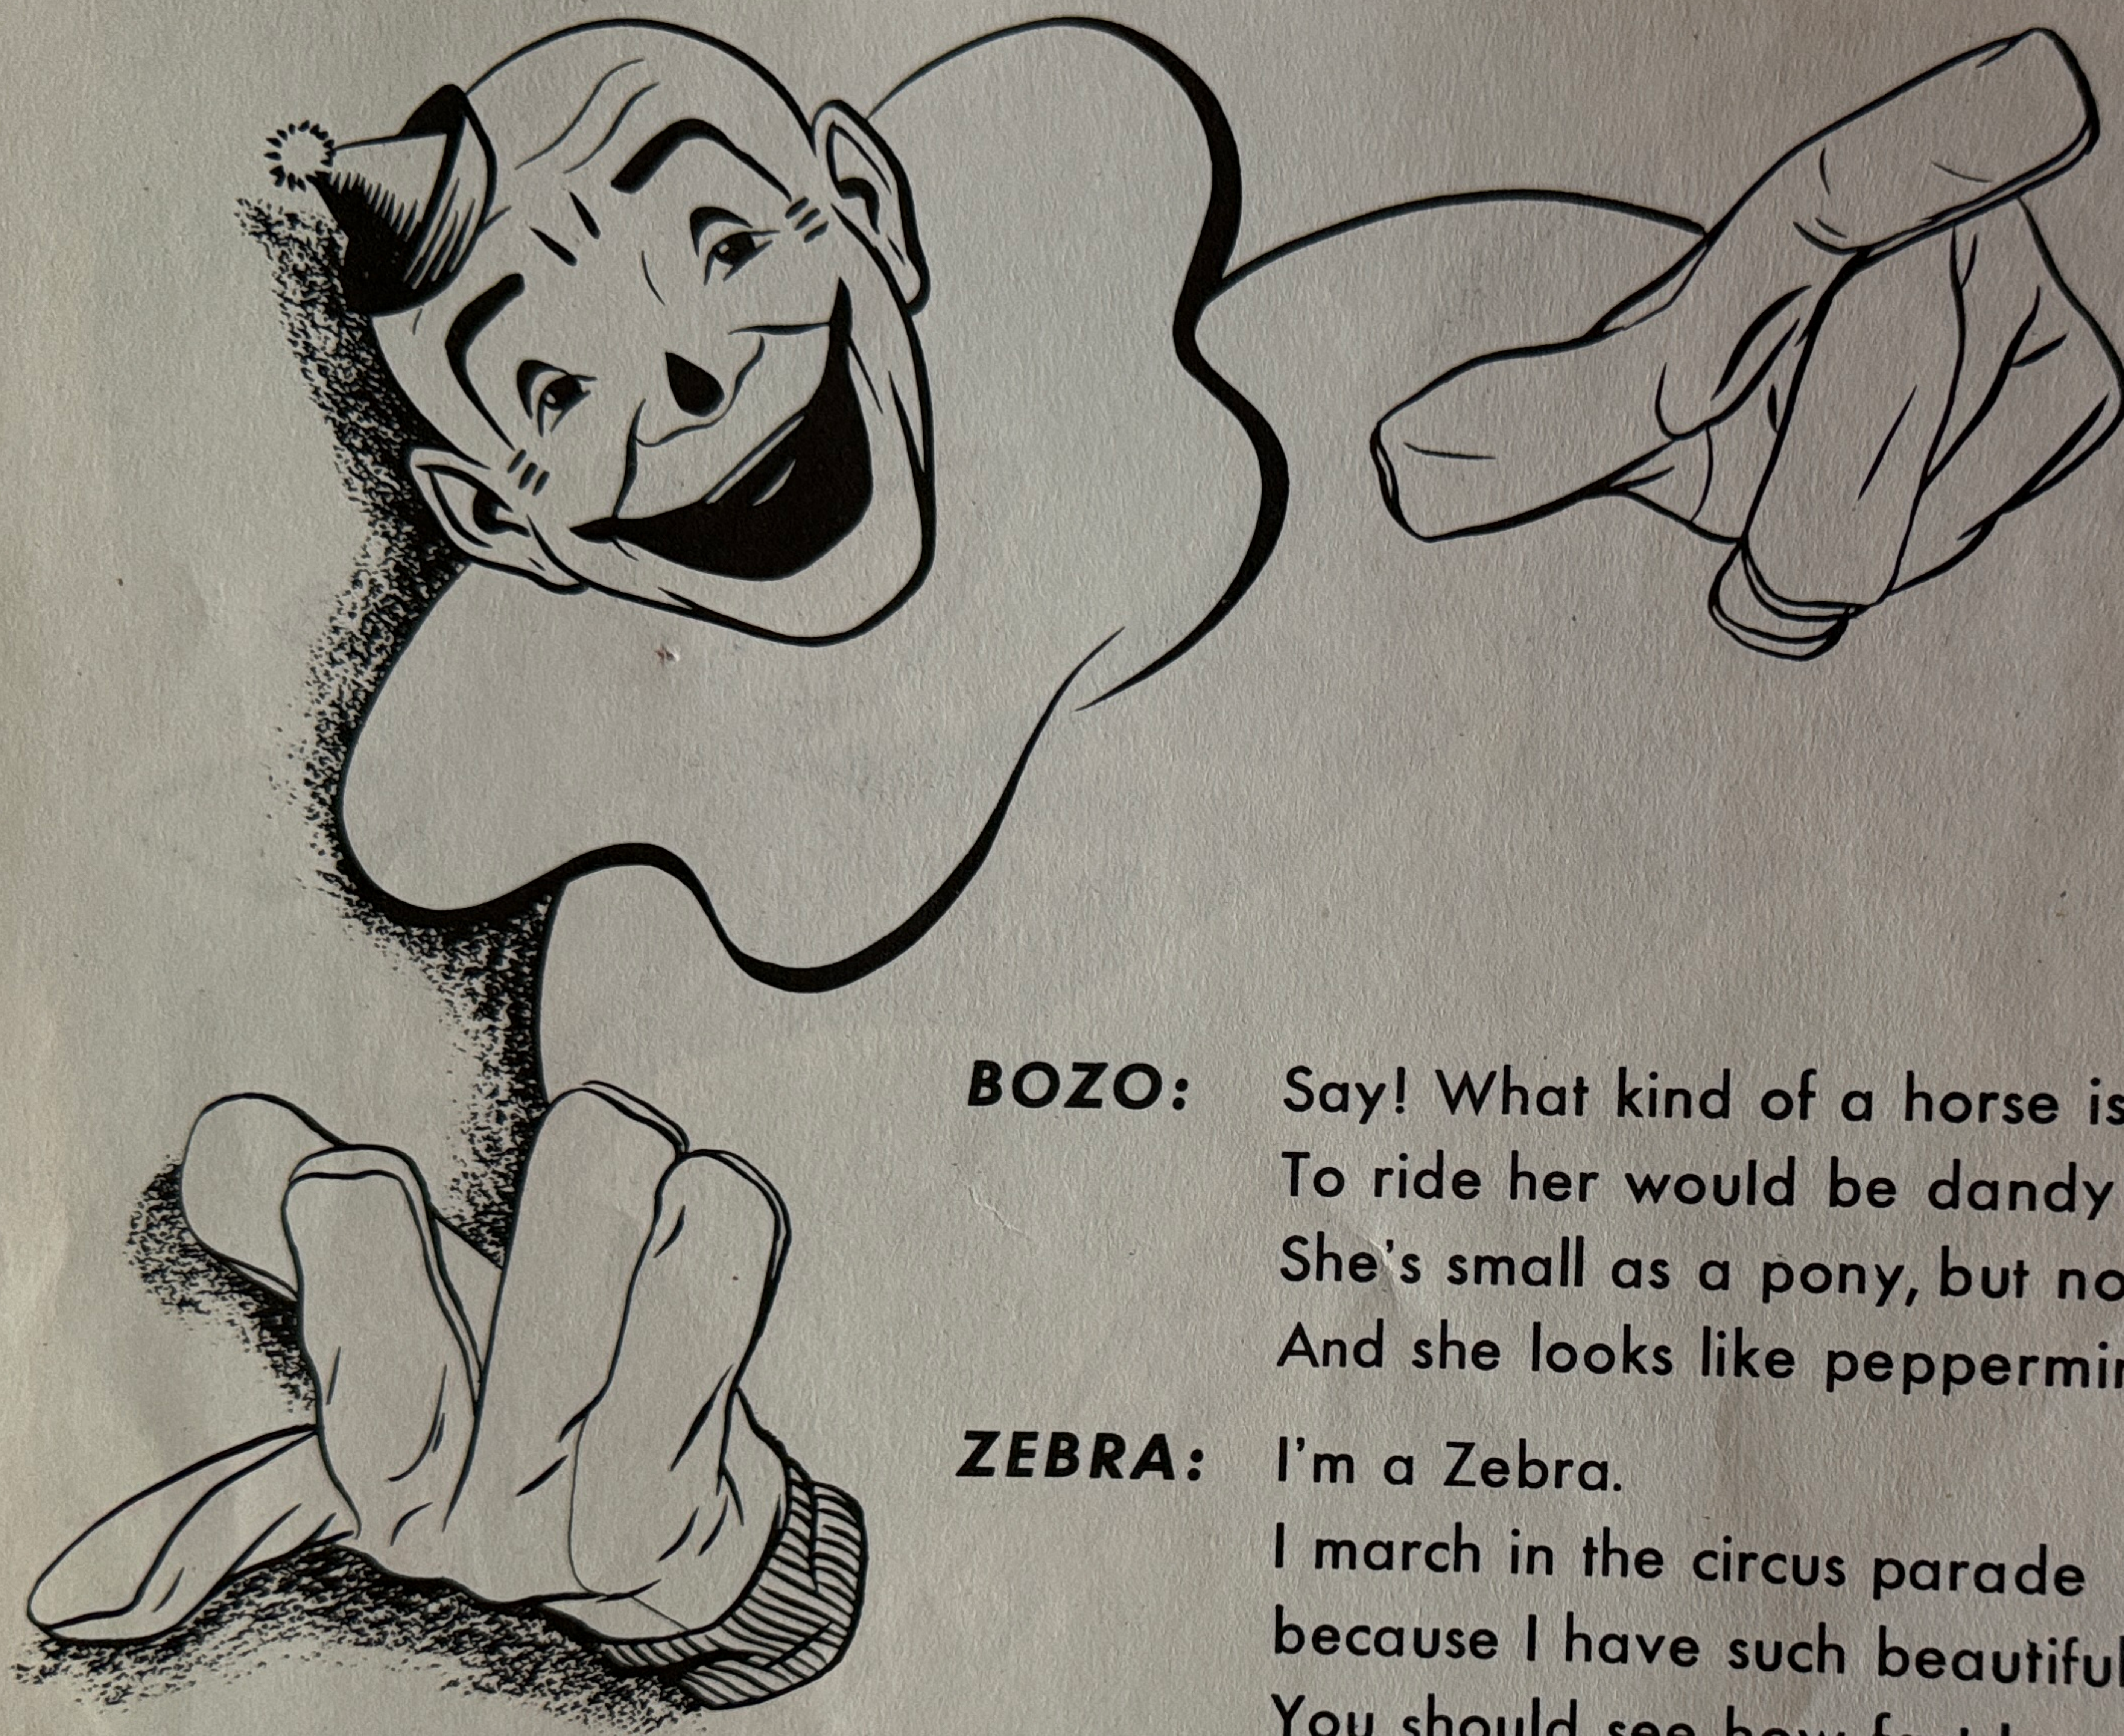

GIRAFFE: I'm a giraffe.
I'm the tallest animal in the world.
My neck is so long that when I swallow,
My adam's apple bounces!
I can go without drinking water for a long time.
Well, ptooiie, I hope you have a nice time at the circus.

BOZO: Remember — that whistle means "Turn the page".

the circus.
ge".

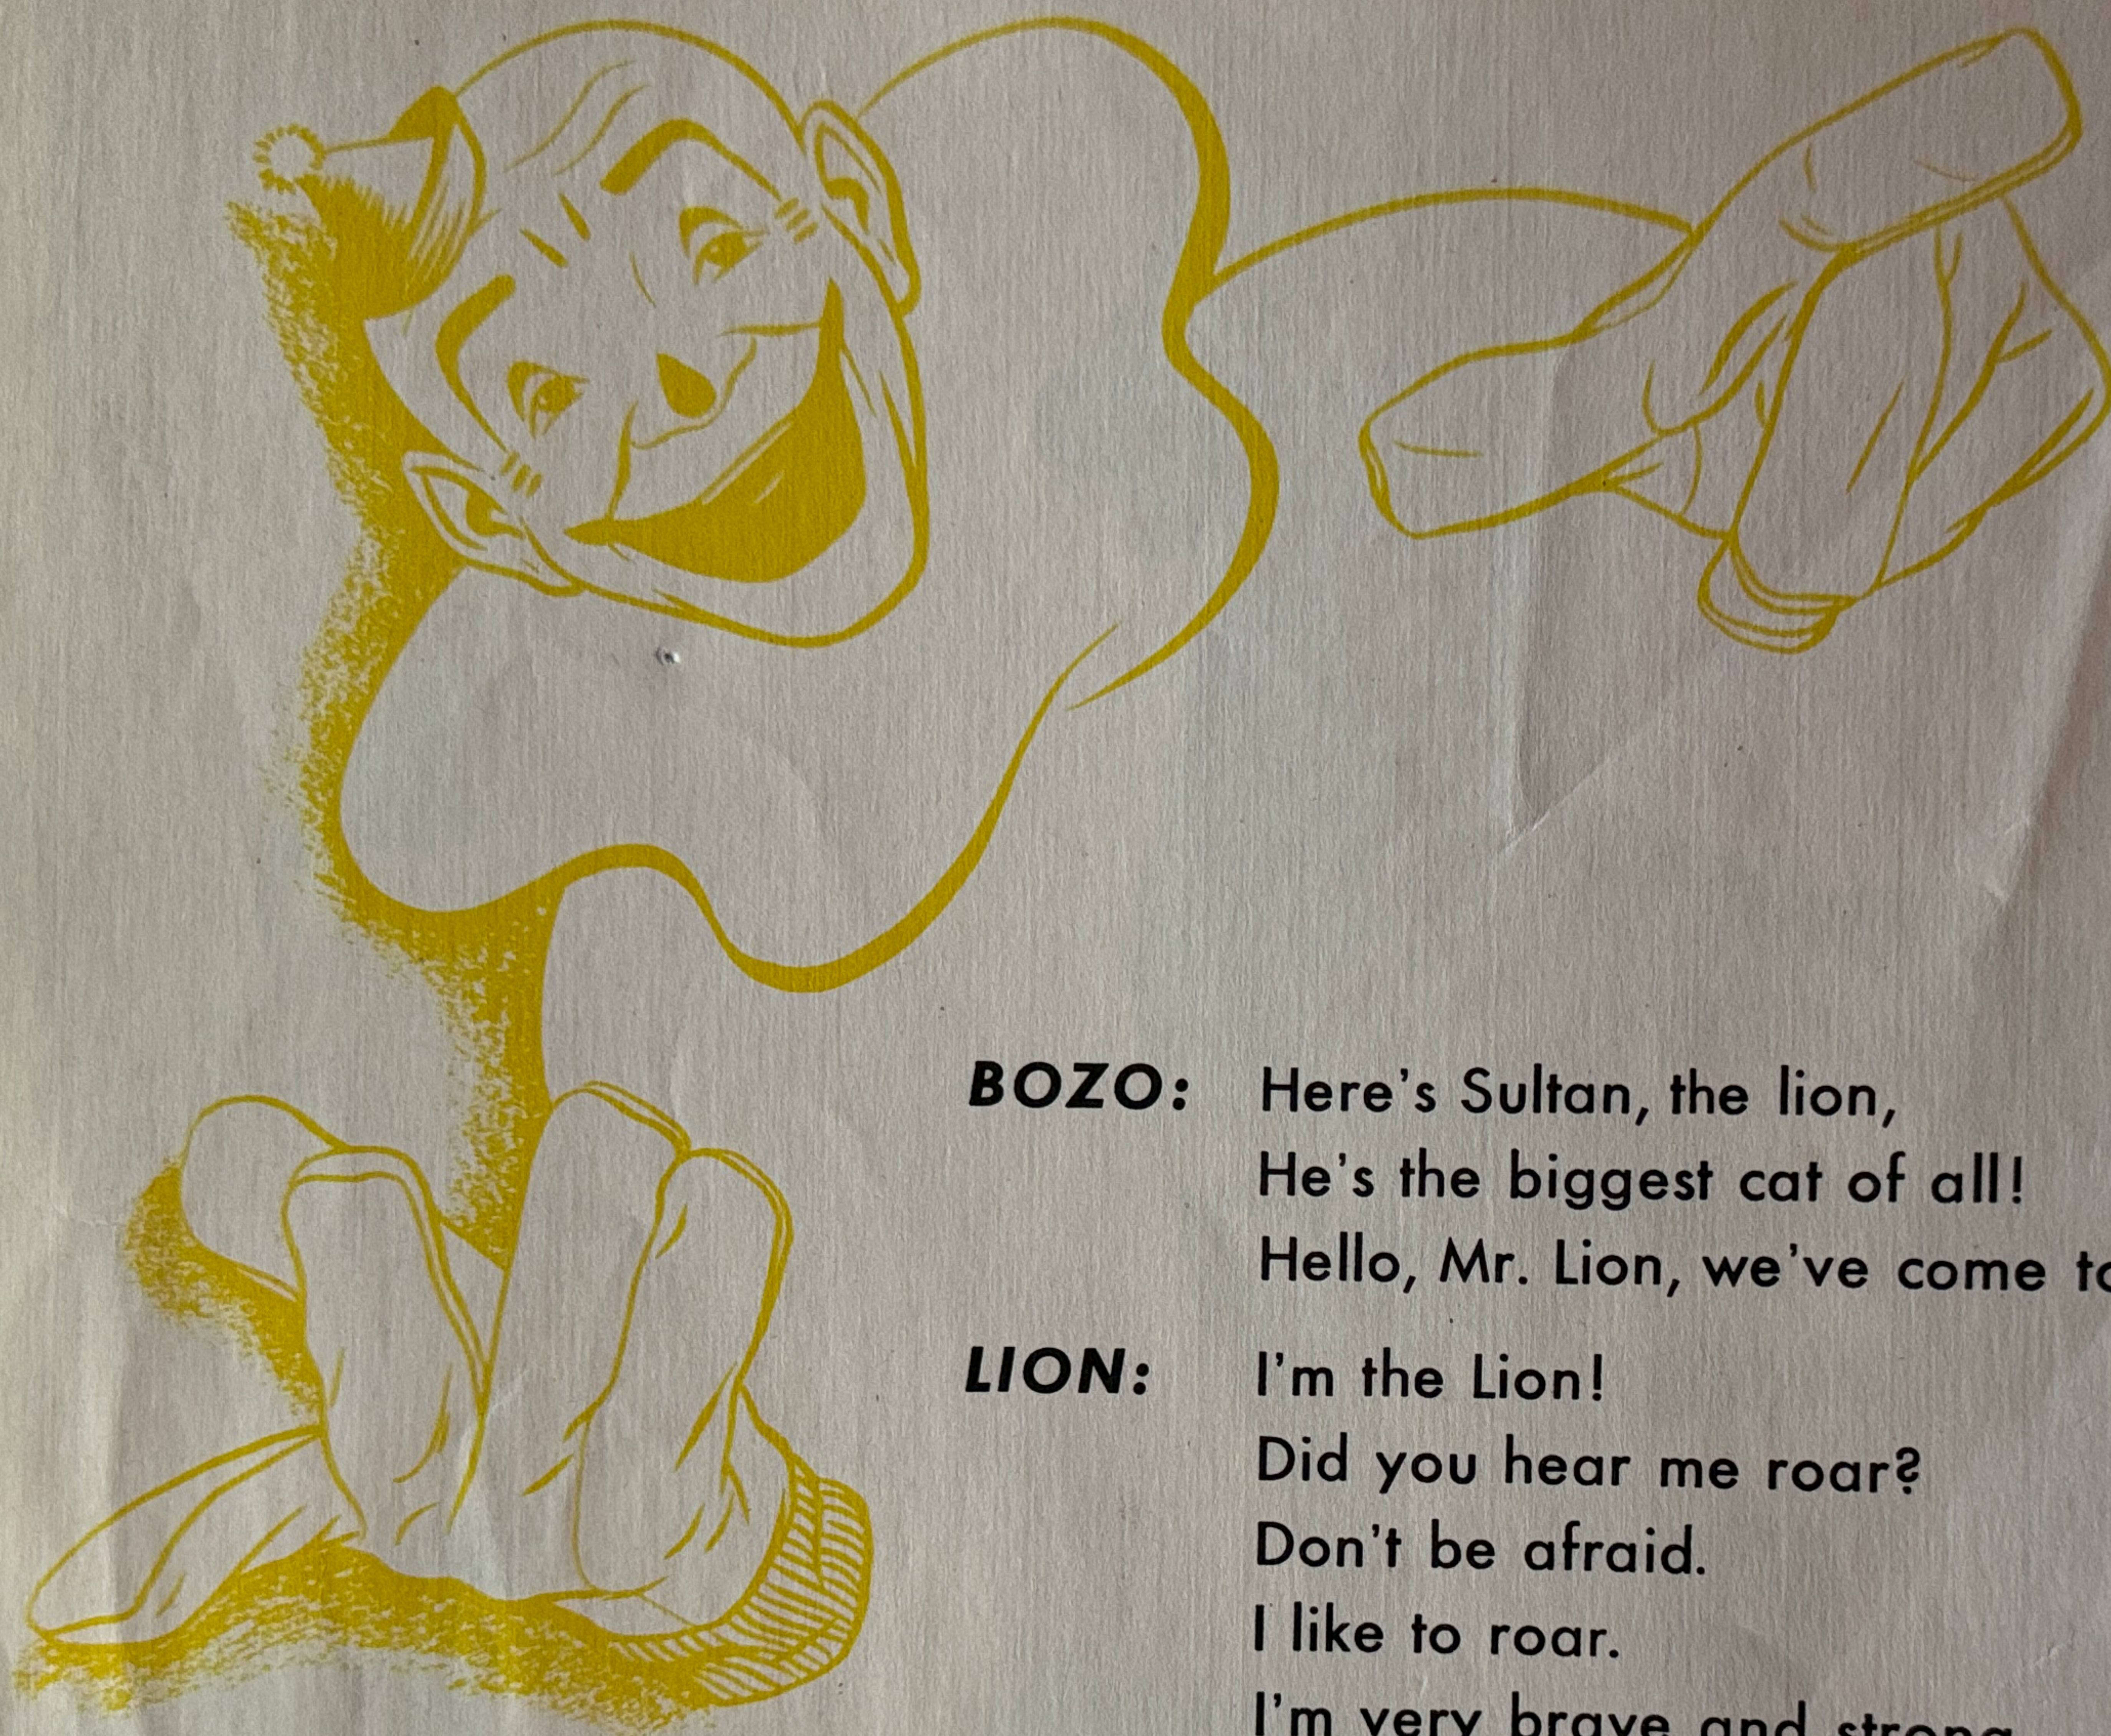

BOZO: Say! What kind of a horse is this?
To ride her would be dandy!
She's small as a pony, but not as tame,
And she looks like peppermint candy!

ZEBRA: I'm a Zebra.
I march in the circus parade
because I have such beautiful stripes.
You should see how fast I can run!
They try to make me work, but I kick and stamp.
There goes that lion again!
He frightens me — please turn the page!

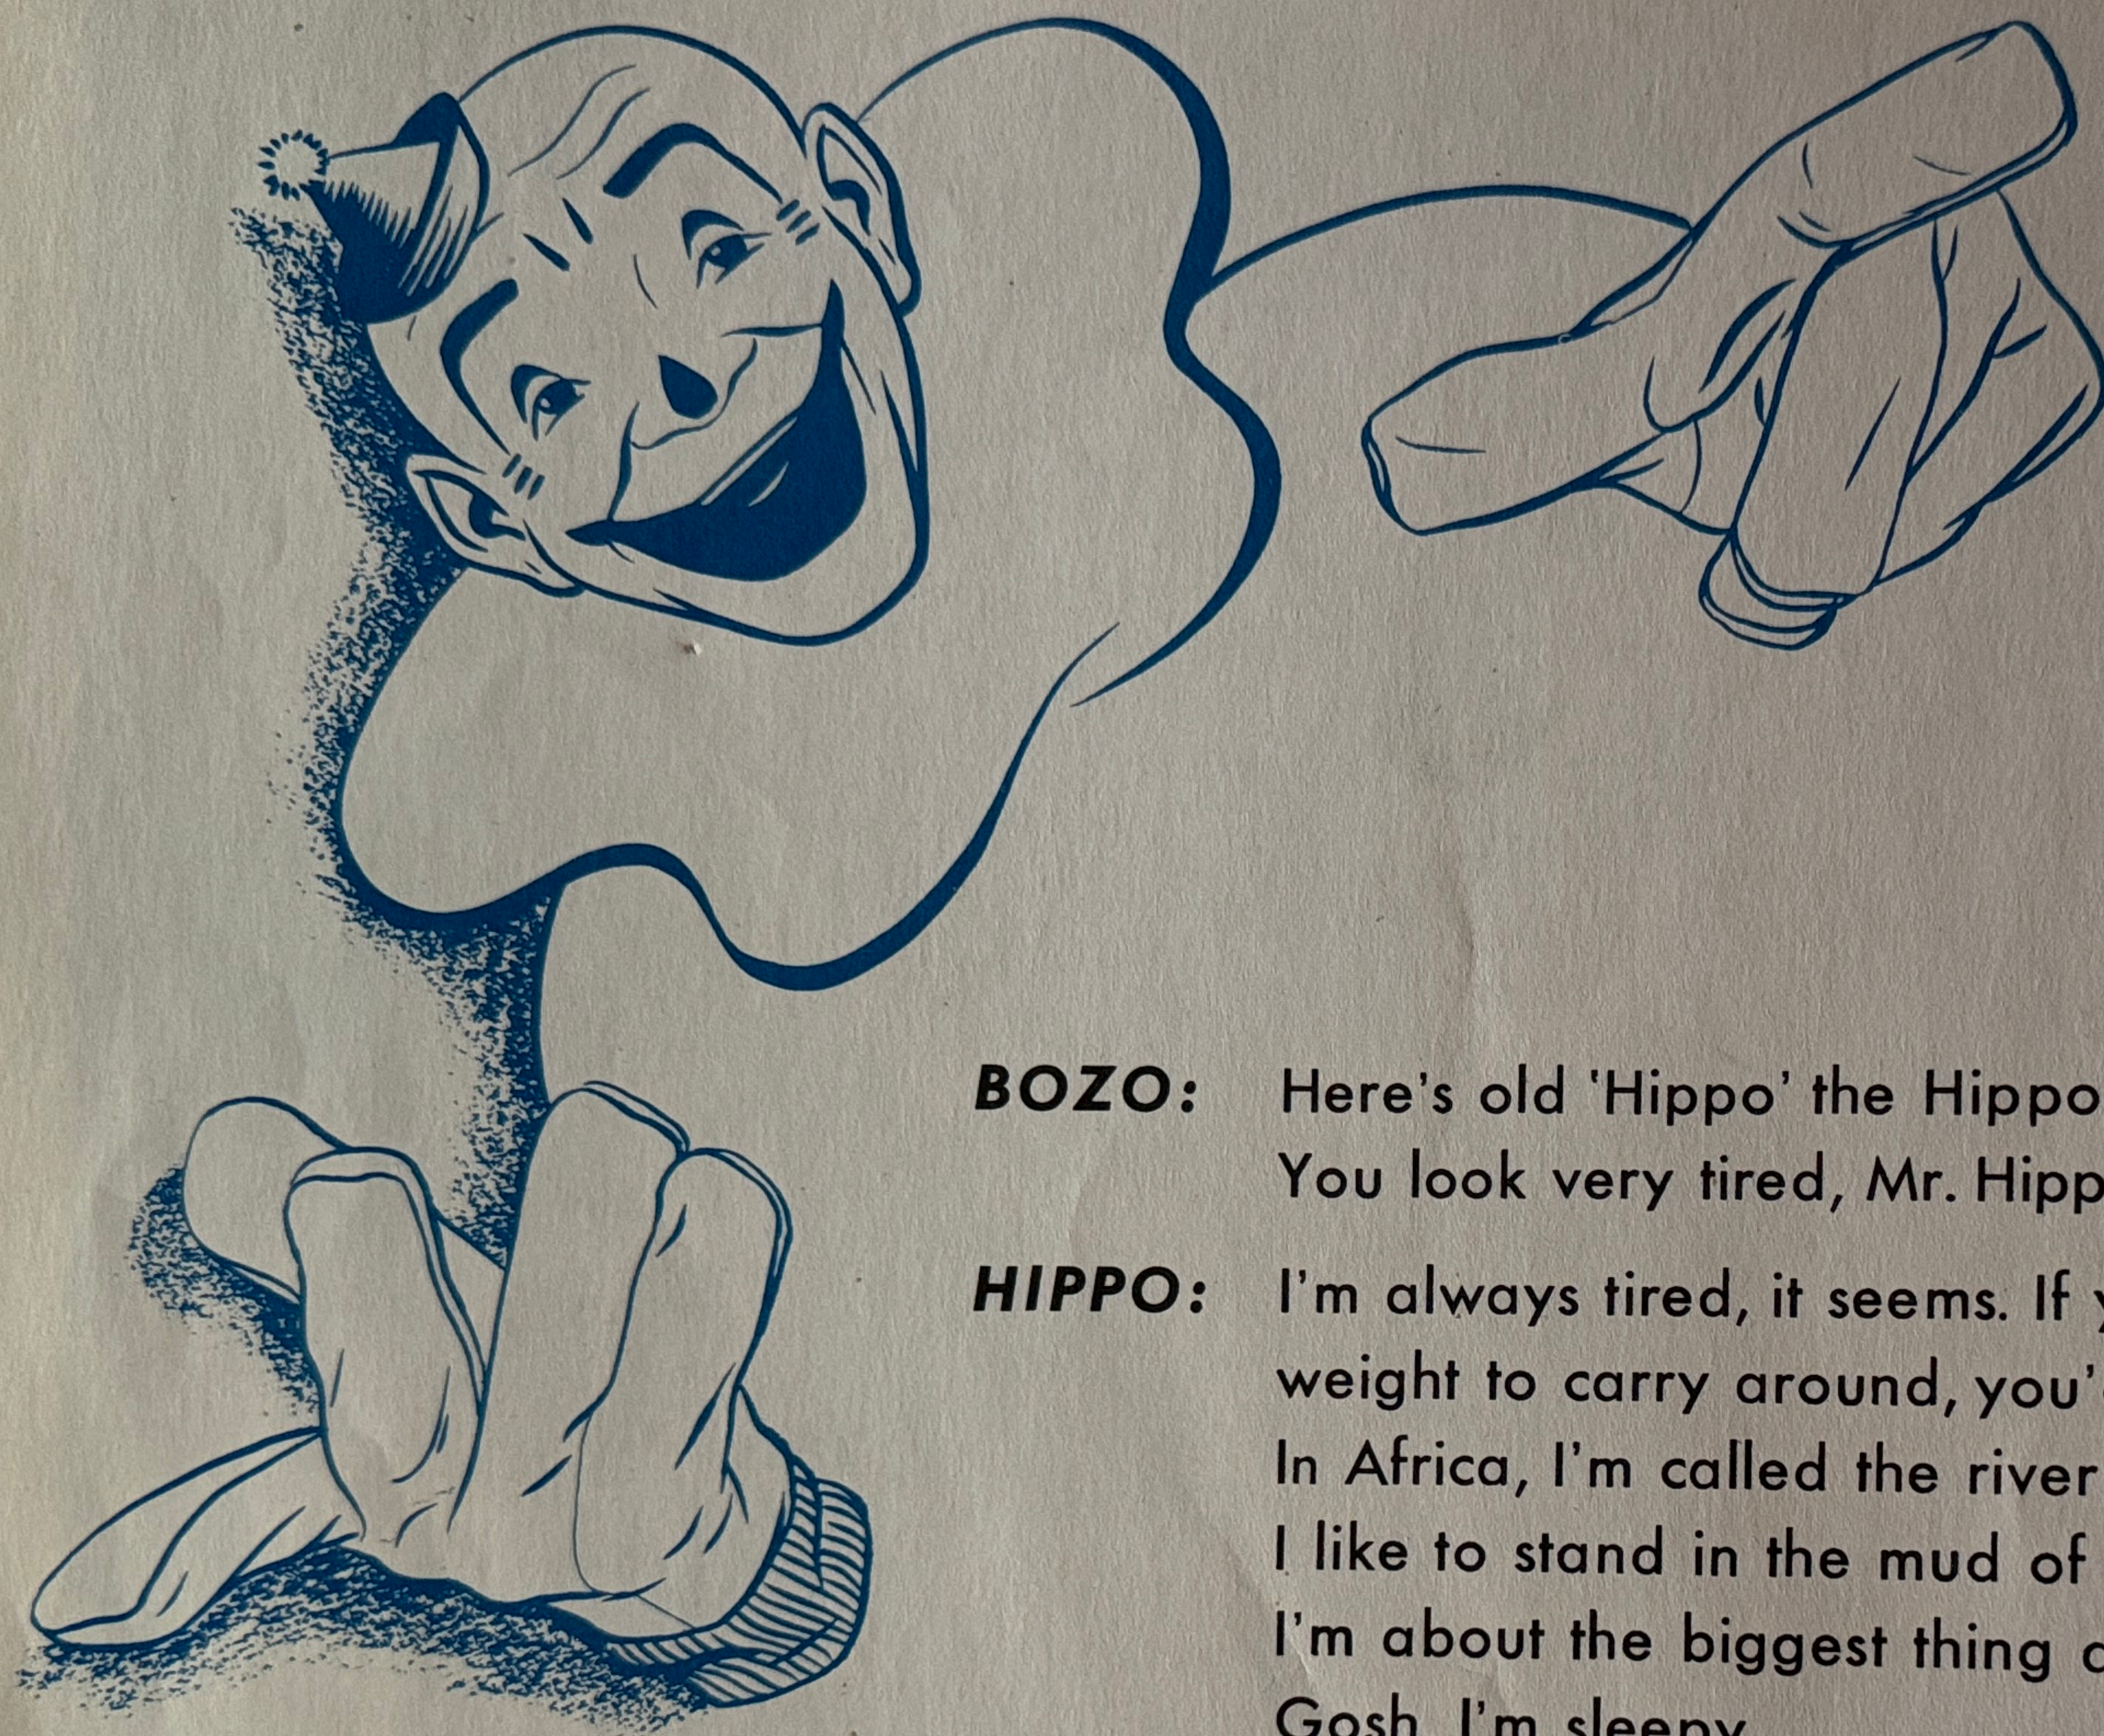

BOZO: Here's Sultan, the lion,
He's the biggest cat of all!
Hello, Mr. Lion, we've come to pay a call.

LION: I'm the Lion!
Did you hear me roar?
Don't be afraid.
I like to roar.
I'm very brave and strong,
That's why they call me the "King of Beasts".
When I'm hungry, they feed me raw meat.
But I wish I were back home in the jungle.
And now that you've seen me
Here in my cage,
I think you should turn
To the very next page.

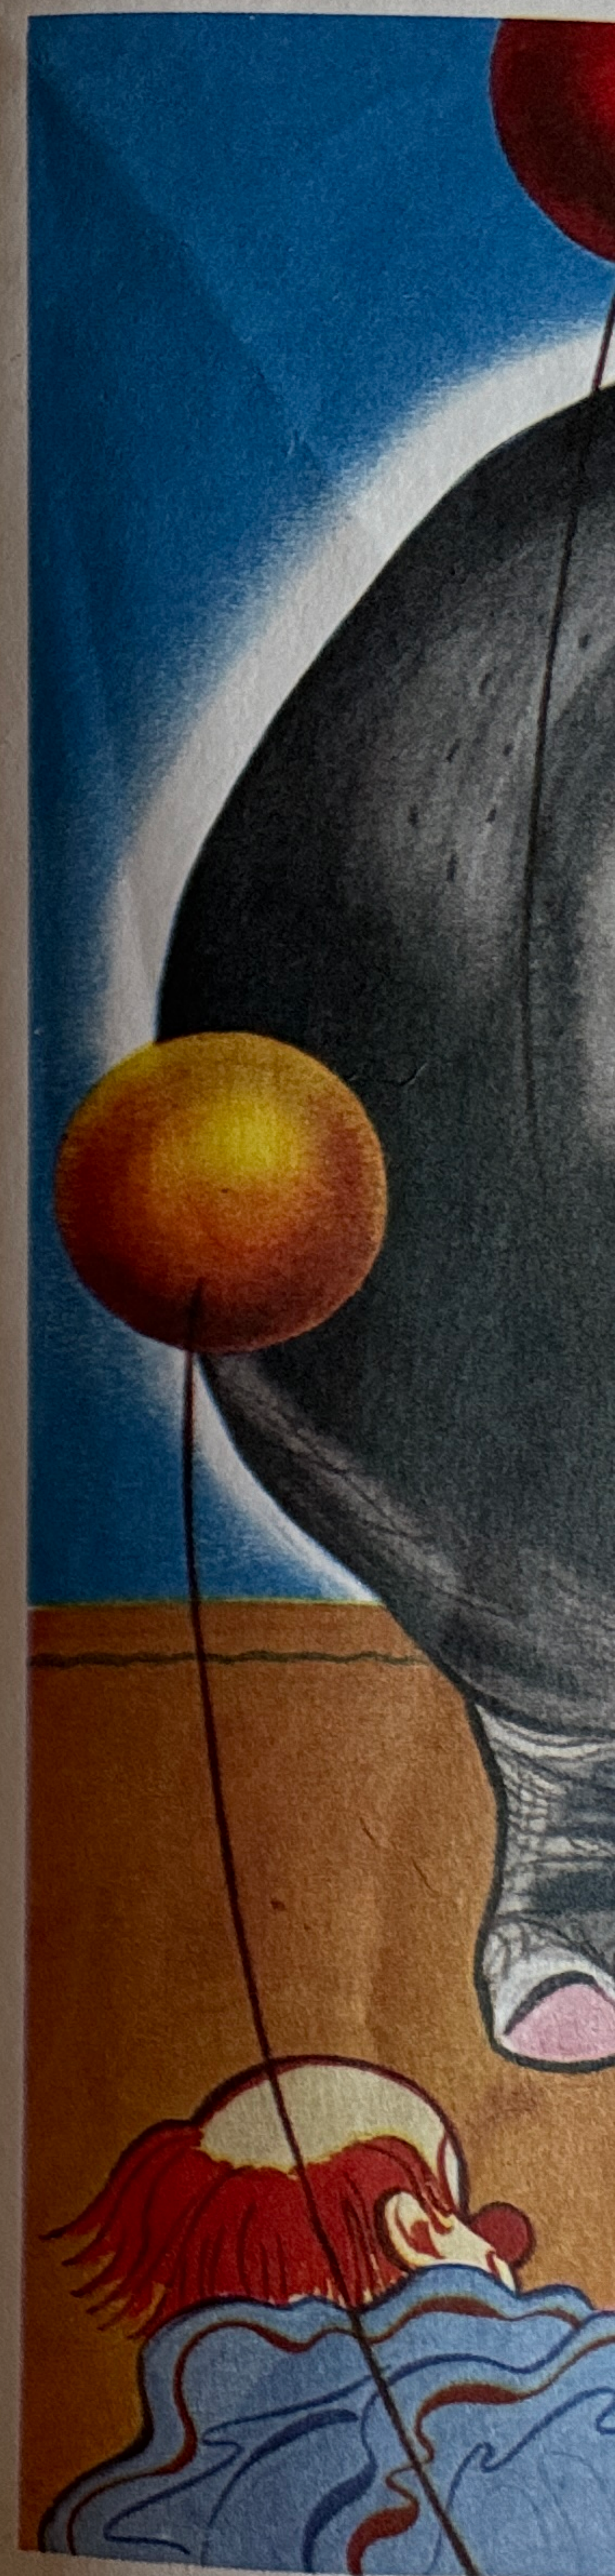

BOZO: After we change the record

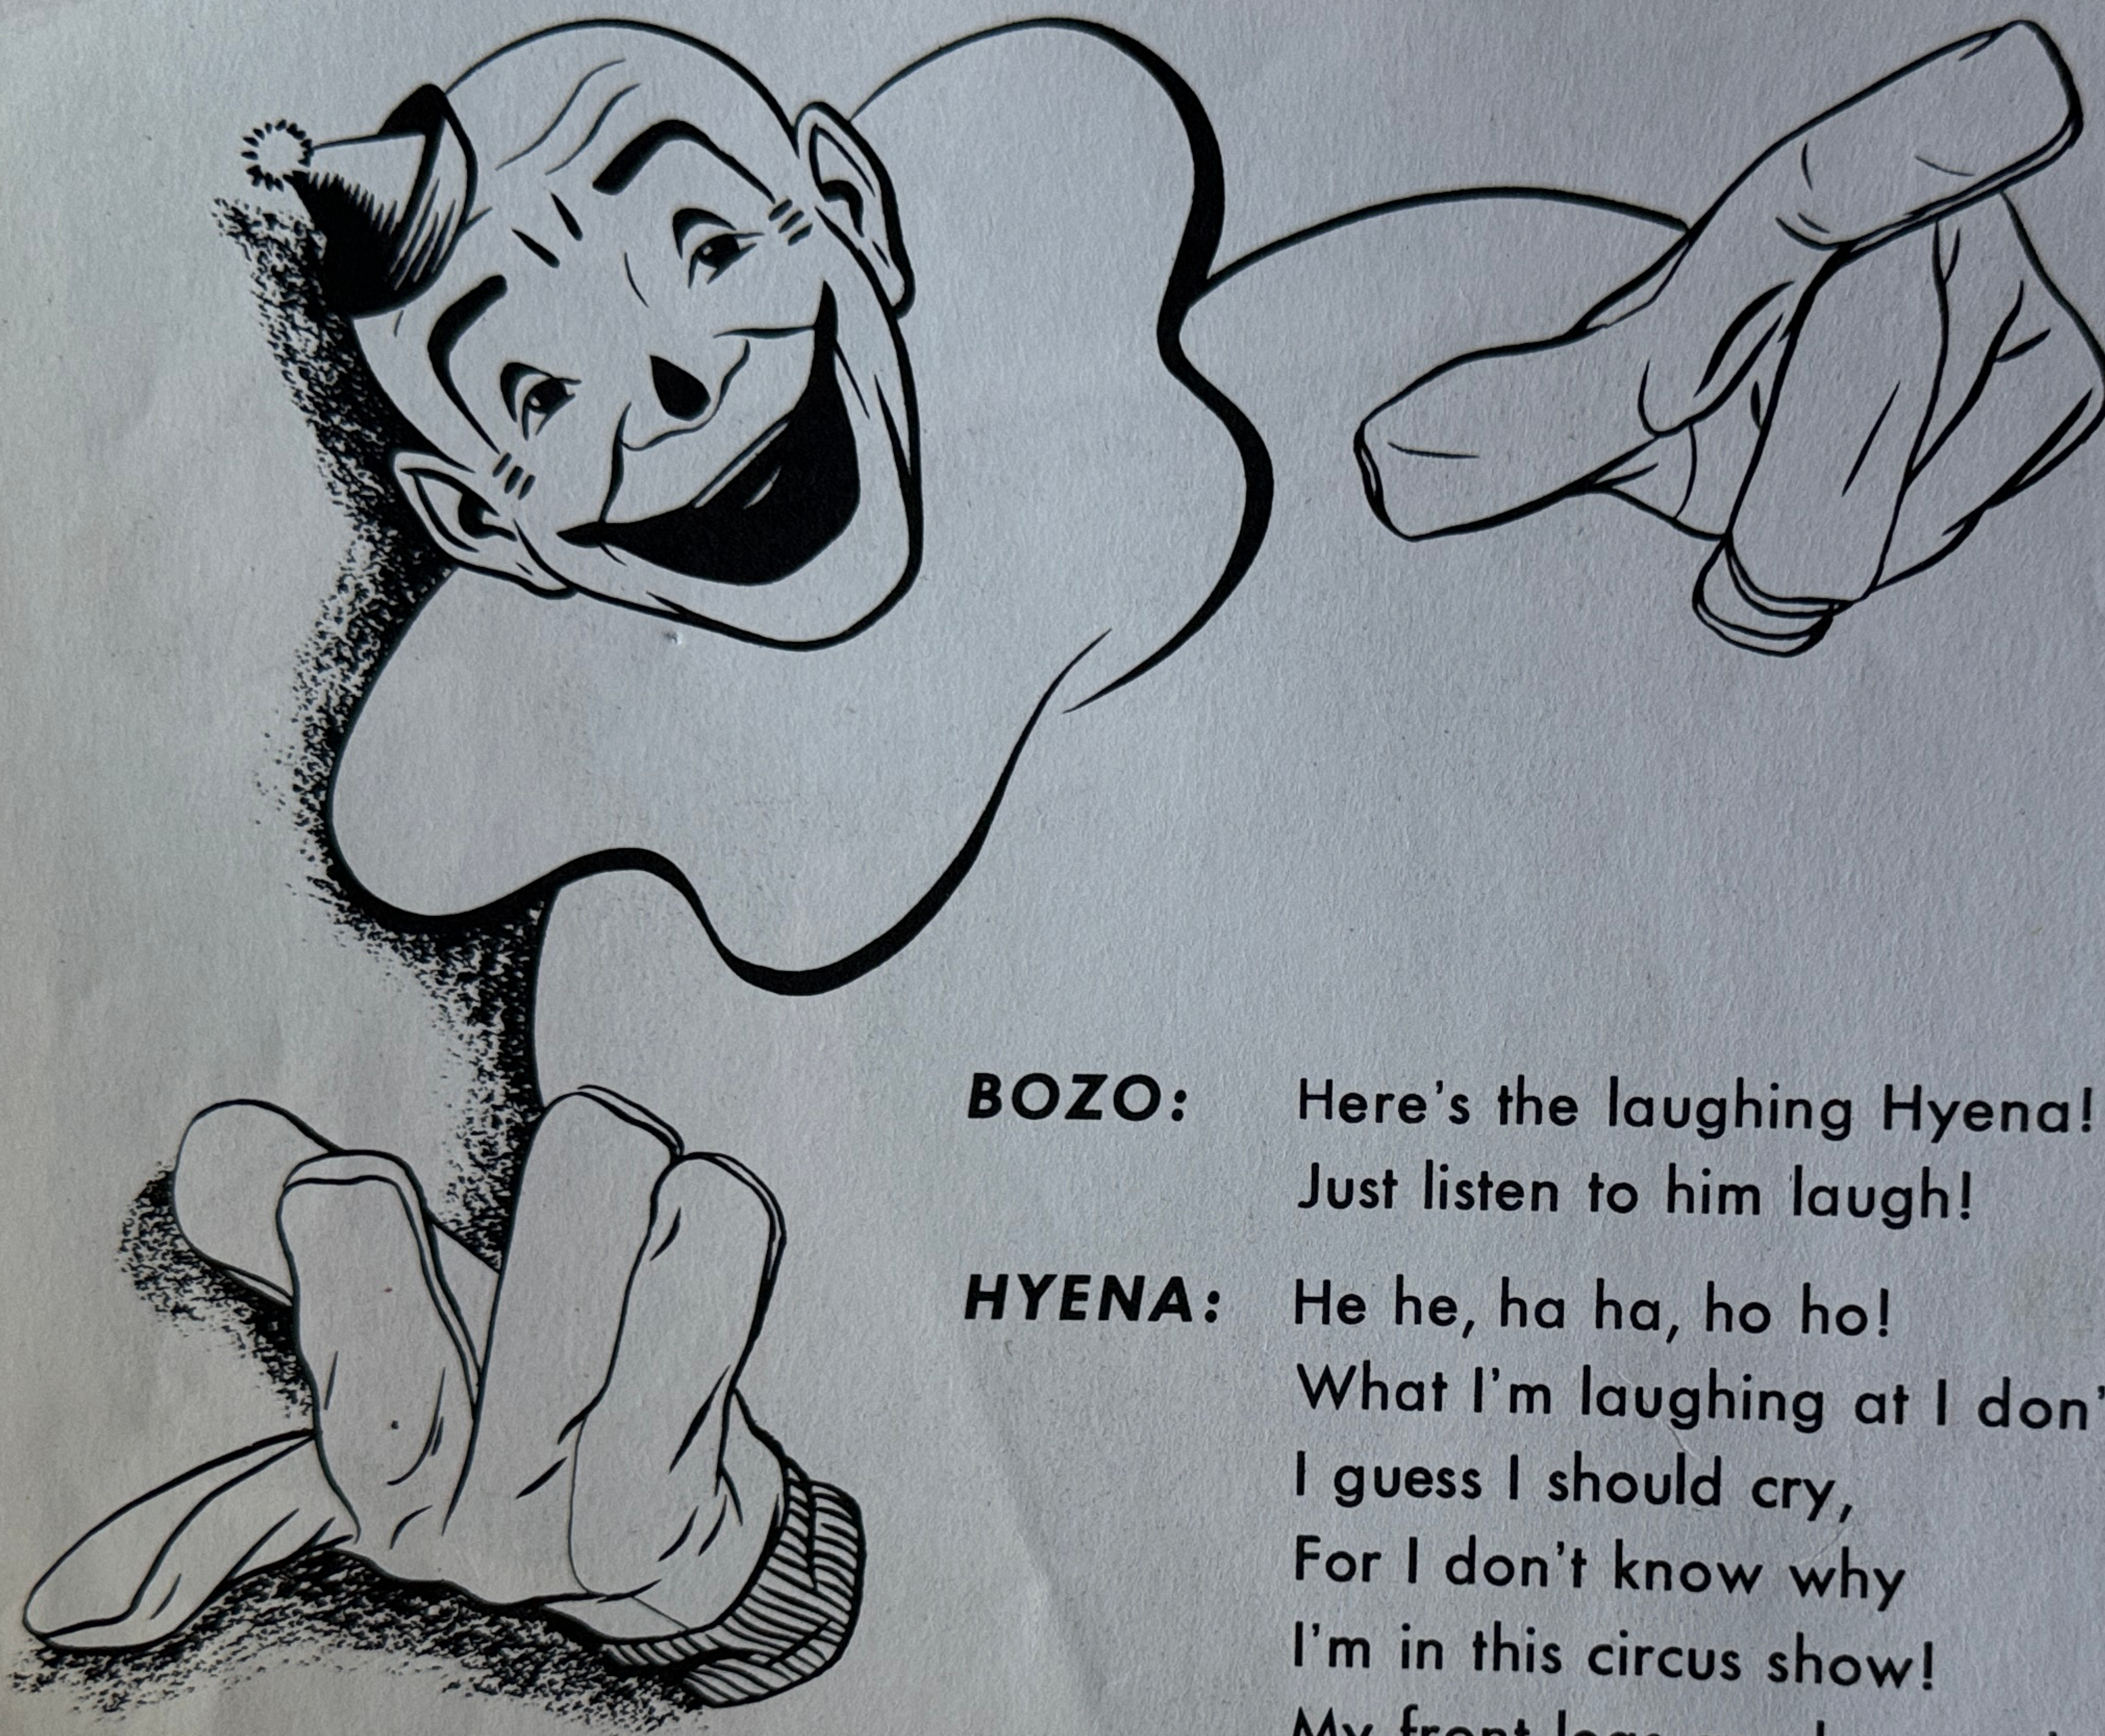

BOZO: Here's old 'Hippo' the Hippopotamus!
You look very tired, Mr. Hippo —

HIPPO: I'm always tired, it seems. If you had my weight to carry around, you'd be tired, too.
In Africa, I'm called the river horse.
I like to stand in the mud of the rivers.
I'm about the biggest thing around here!
Gosh, I'm sleepy.

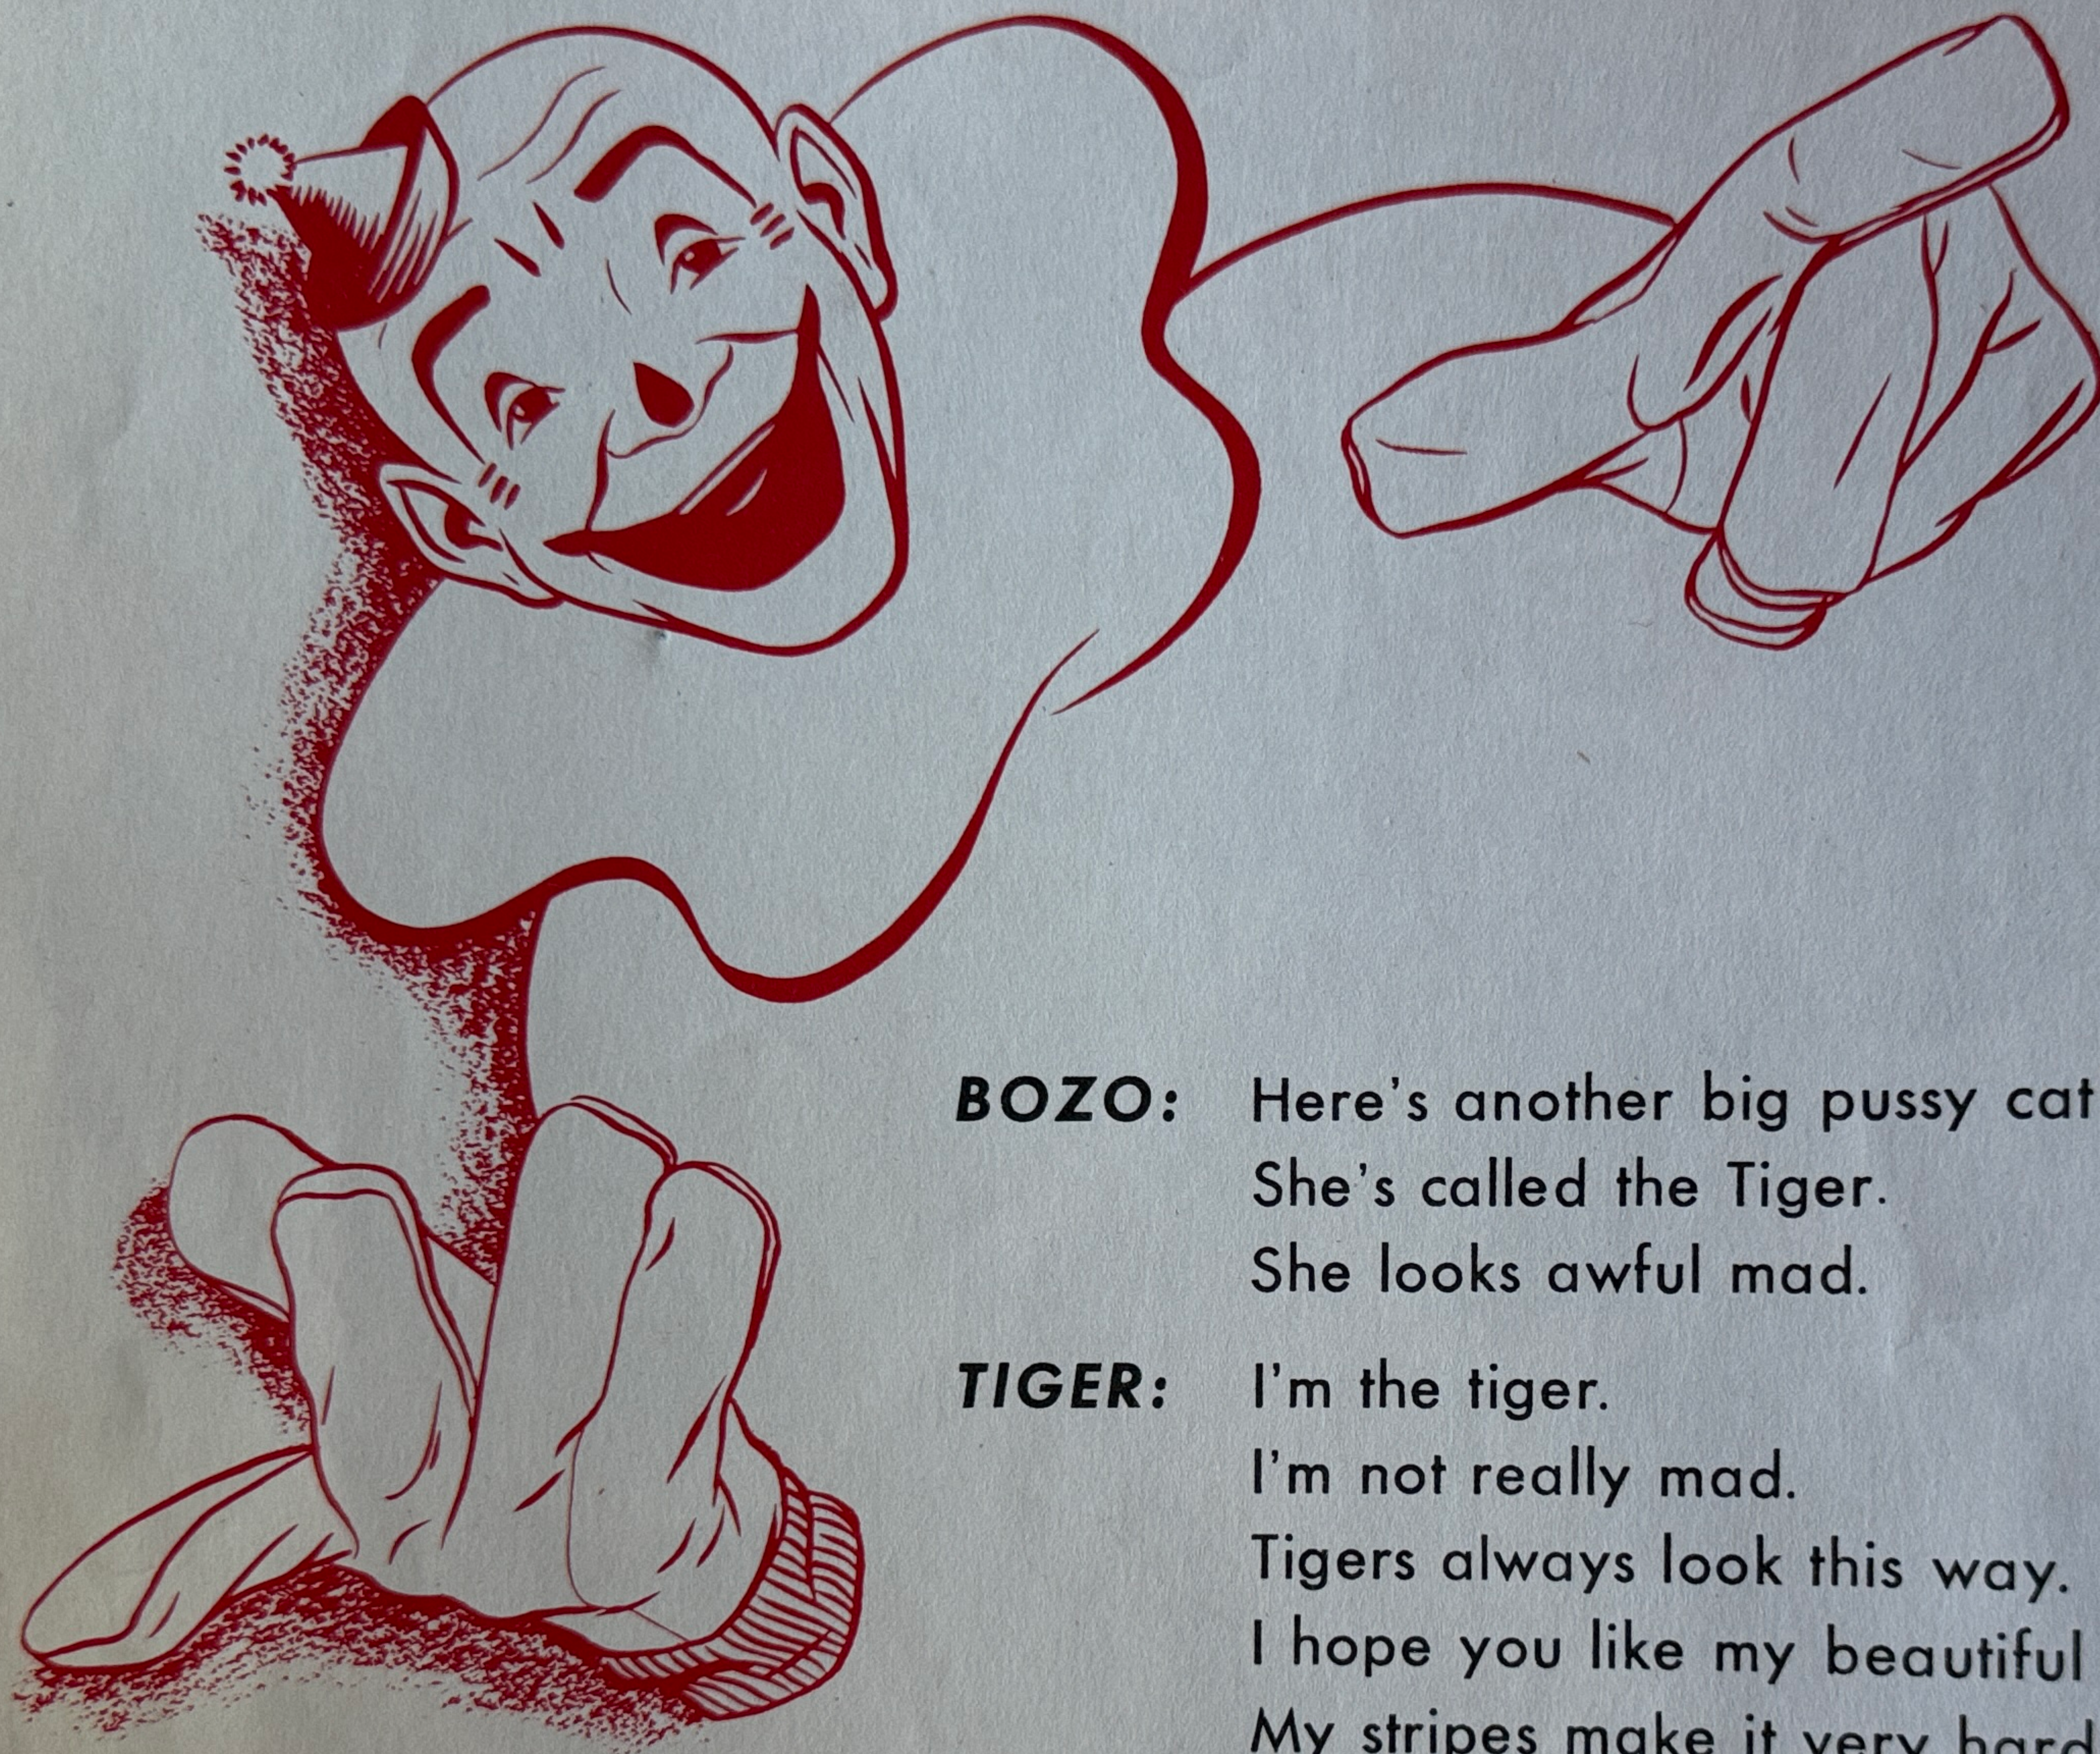

BOZO: Here's the laughing Hyena!
Just listen to him laugh!

HYENA: He he, ha ha, ho ho!
What I'm laughing at I don't know.
I guess I should cry,
For I don't know why
I'm in this circus show!
My front legs are longer than my back ones.
Isn't that awful?
My teeth are very sharp, though.
I come from the dog family.
I'm not brave at all.
The other animals don't like me
Because I steal their food.
But I don't care, for I laugh, he he,
And I also laugh, ho ho!

BOZO: Here's another big pussy cat!
She's called the Tiger.
She looks awful mad.

TIGER: I'm the tiger.
I'm not really mad.
Tigers always look this way.
I hope you like my beautiful stripes.
My stripes make it very hard to see me
When I'm walking in the jungle.
I weigh over 500 pounds.
Ha Ha, Really I should reduce, shouldn't I?
But I'm as brave and strong as the Lion,
And I can roar as loud as he can.
But I don't want to frighten you.

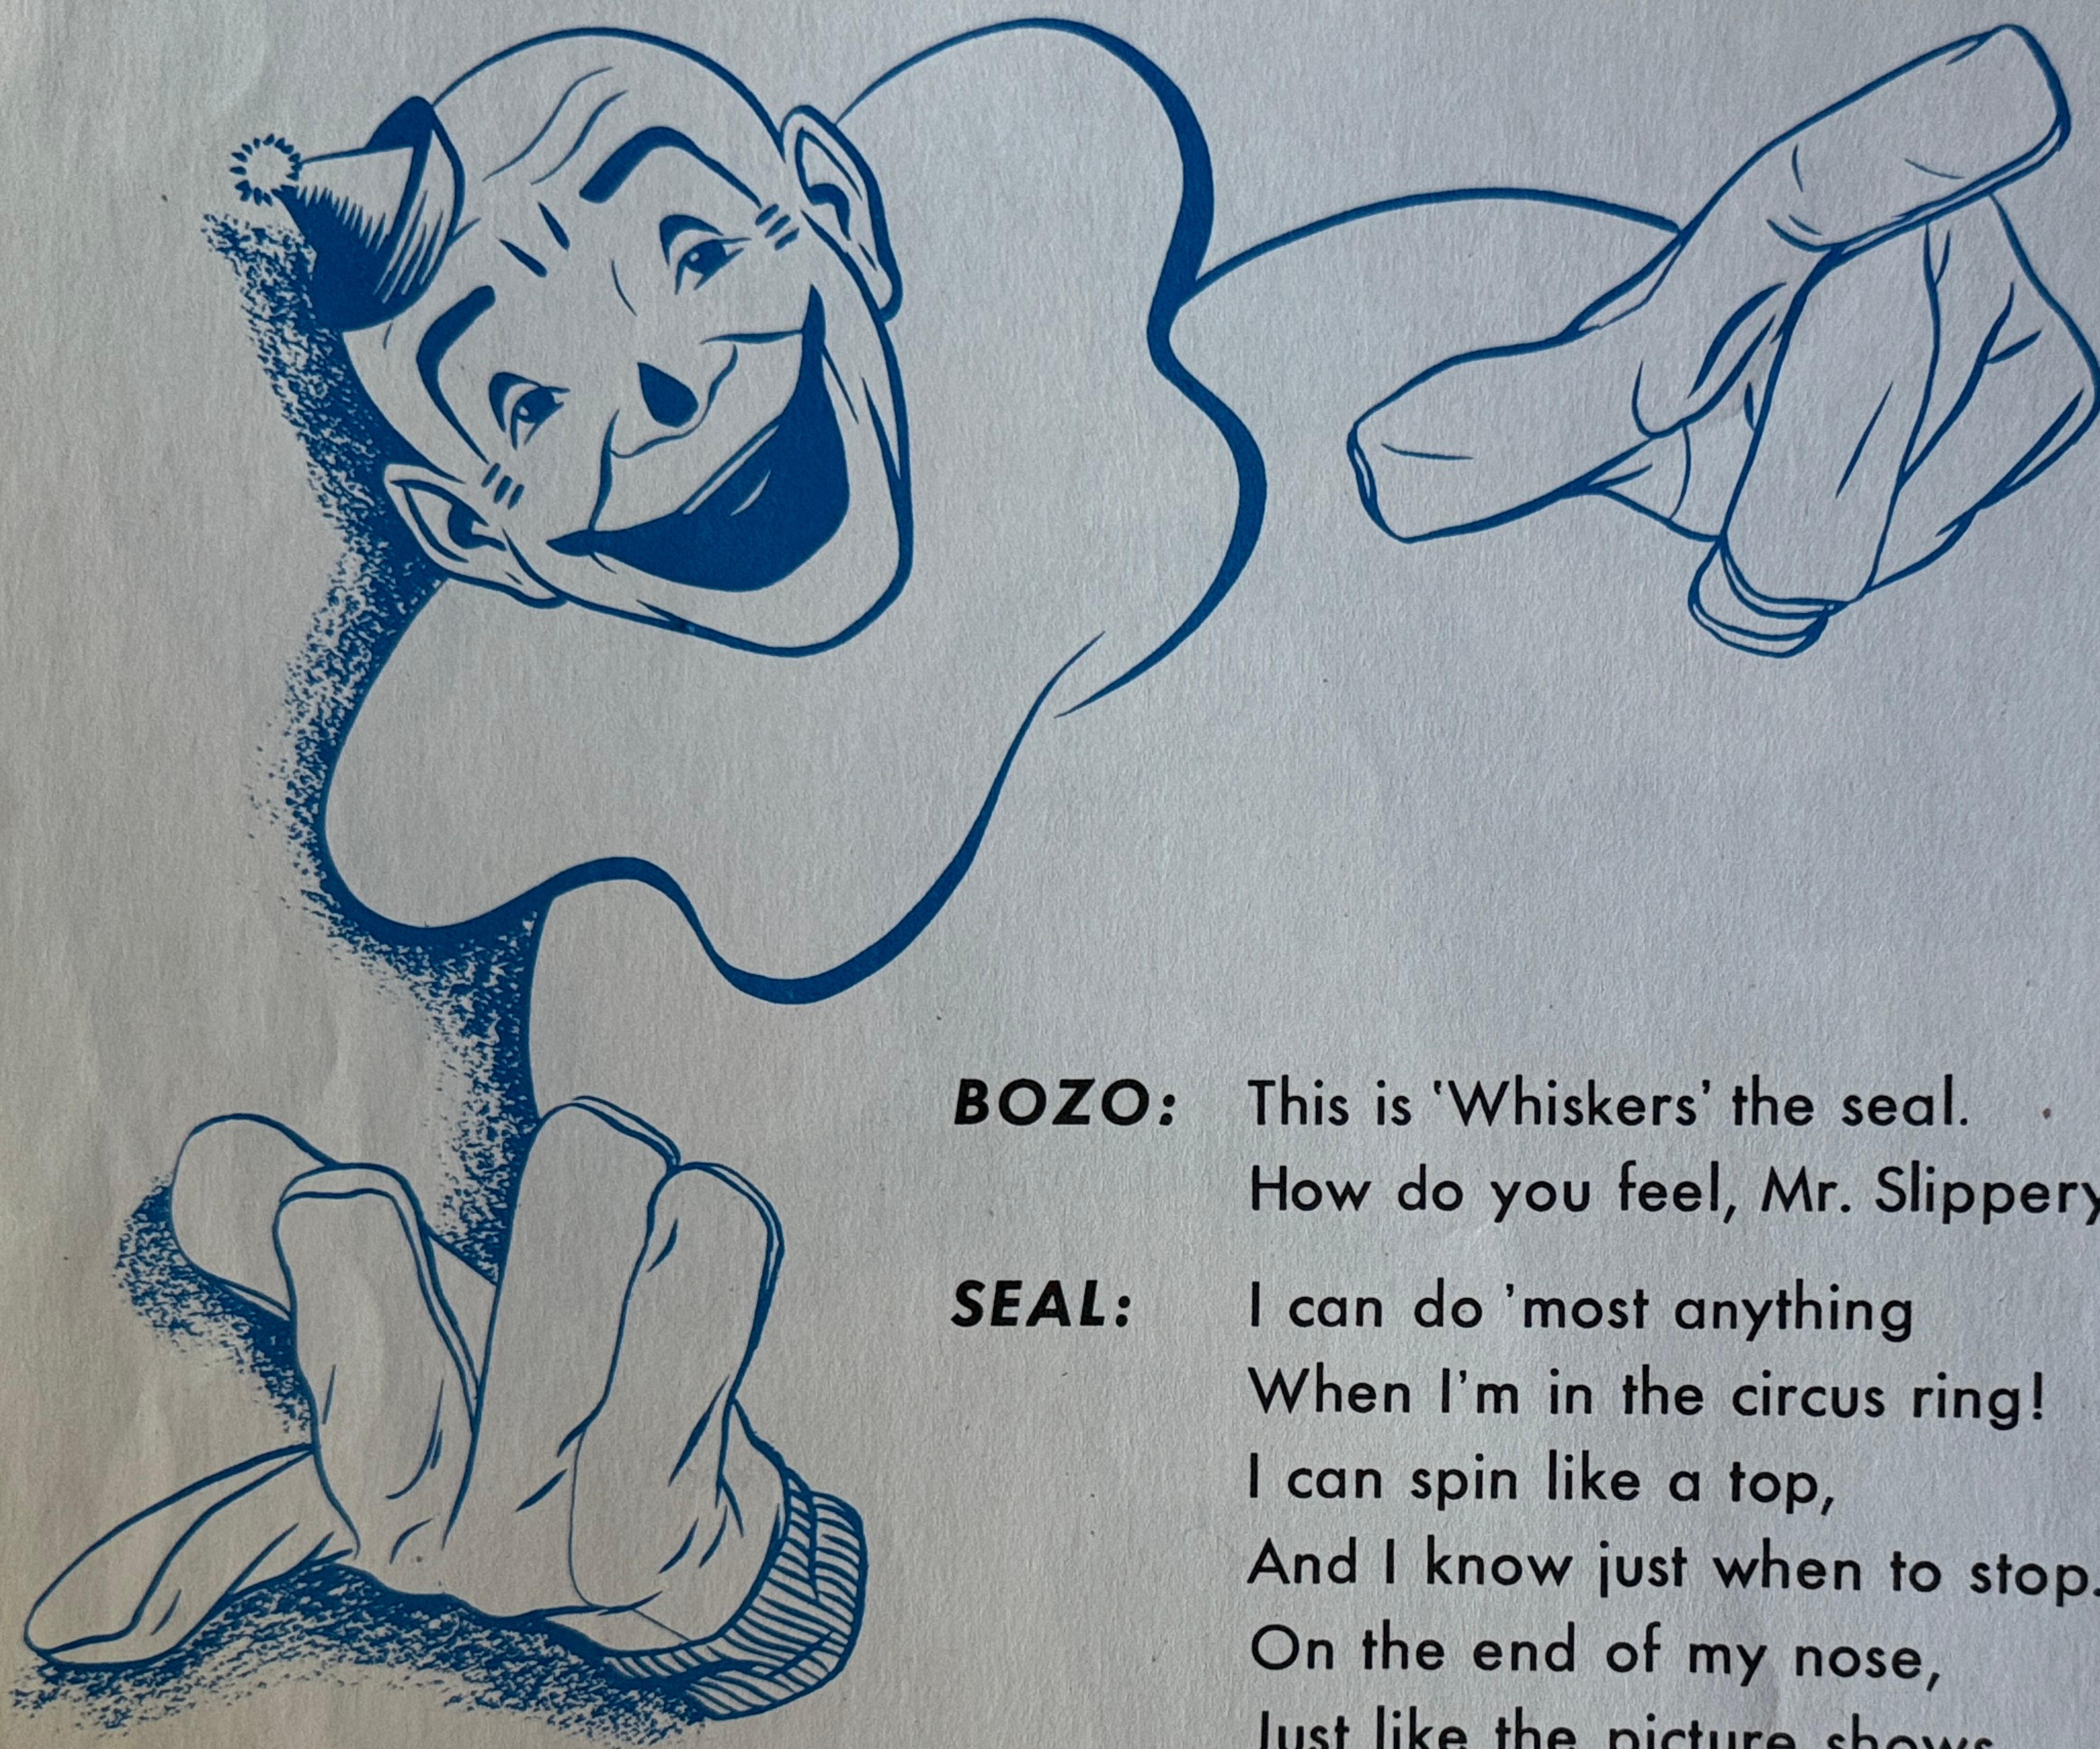

BOZO: Here's Jocko, the monkey!
— "How-do-you-do", Jocko,
We've come to say 'hello' to you.

MONKEY: Hello, I'm very glad you came.
Do you like the way I swing by my tail?
It's easy for all us monkeys to do.
Did you bring me some fruit?
I love to eat fruit.
We monkeys have a wonderful time
Playing in the jungle.
We always like to be together.
I hope I can make you laugh.
I'm a very friendly fellow.
I wish I could get out and play with you.
Thank you so much for coming to see me.
But before you leave, please turn the record.

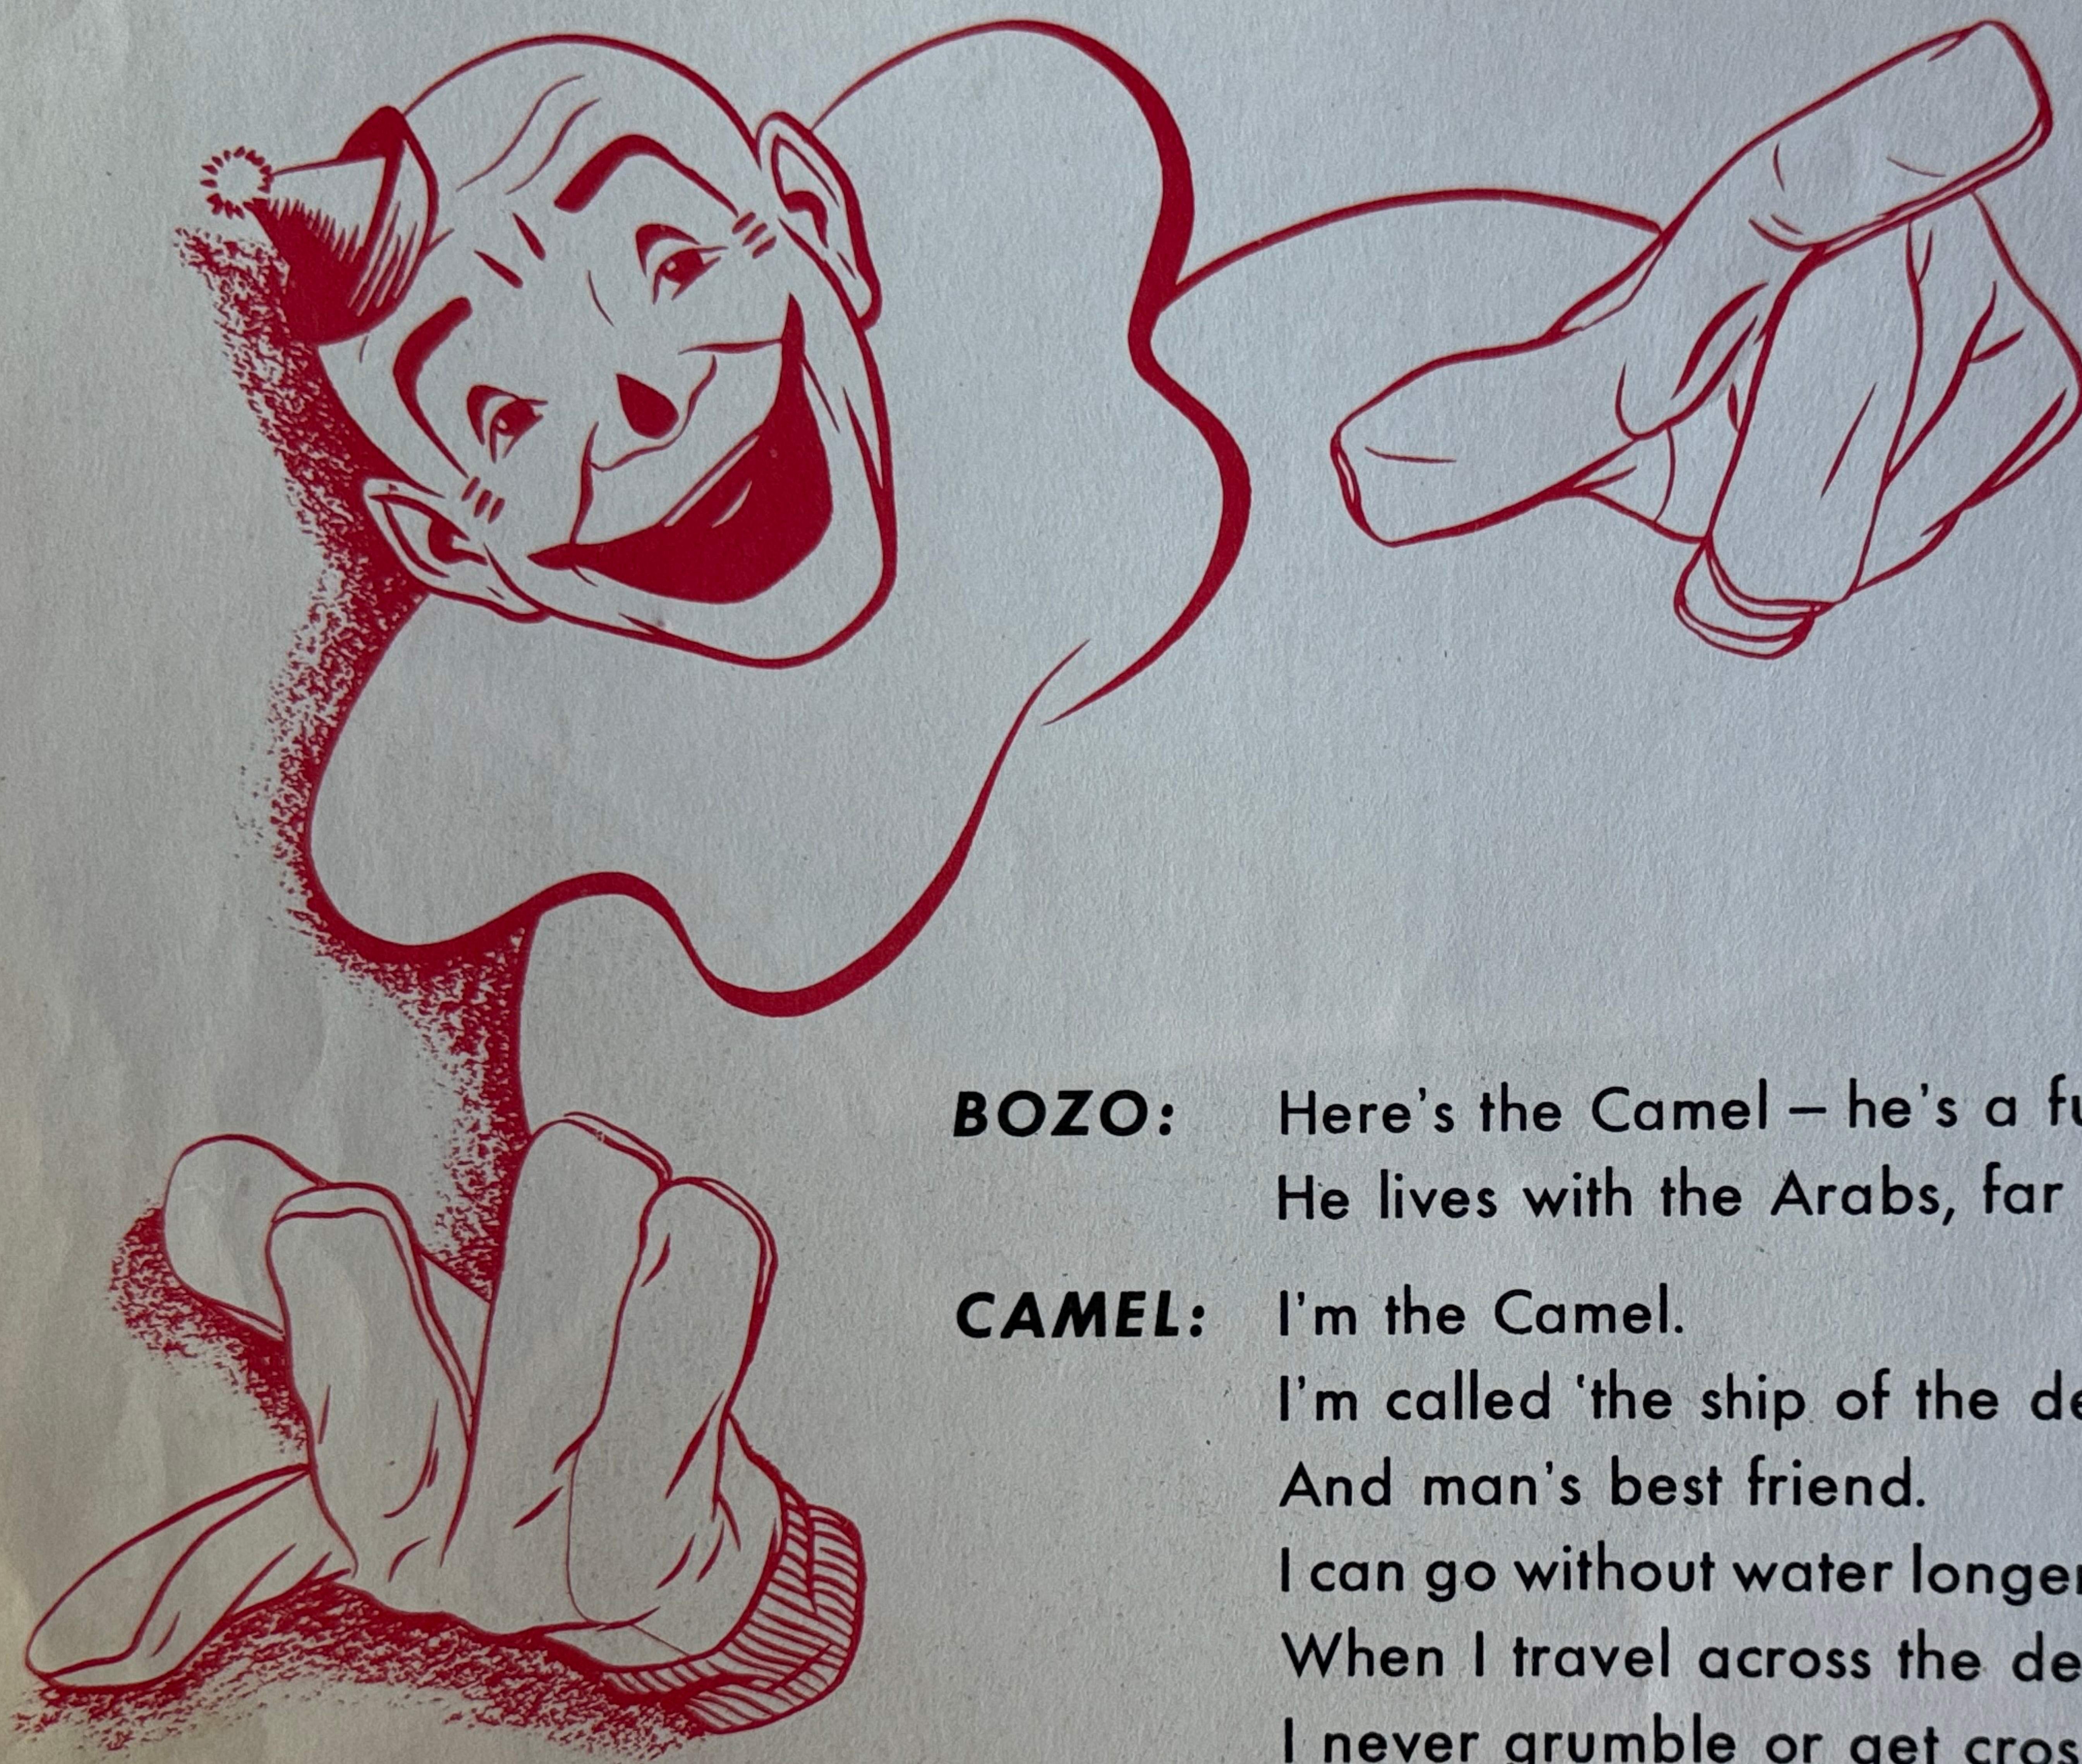

BOZO: This is 'Whiskers' the seal.
How do you feel, Mr. Slippery Seal?

SEAL: I can do 'most anything
When I'm in the circus ring!
I can spin like a top,
And I know just when to stop.
On the end of my nose,
Just like the picture shows,
I can spin a rubber ball,
And it isn't hard at all.
You should hear me play the musical horn.
After I've done all my tricks,
they feed me nice, tasty fish.
And my hands are called 'flippers'.
Shall I clap them together for you?

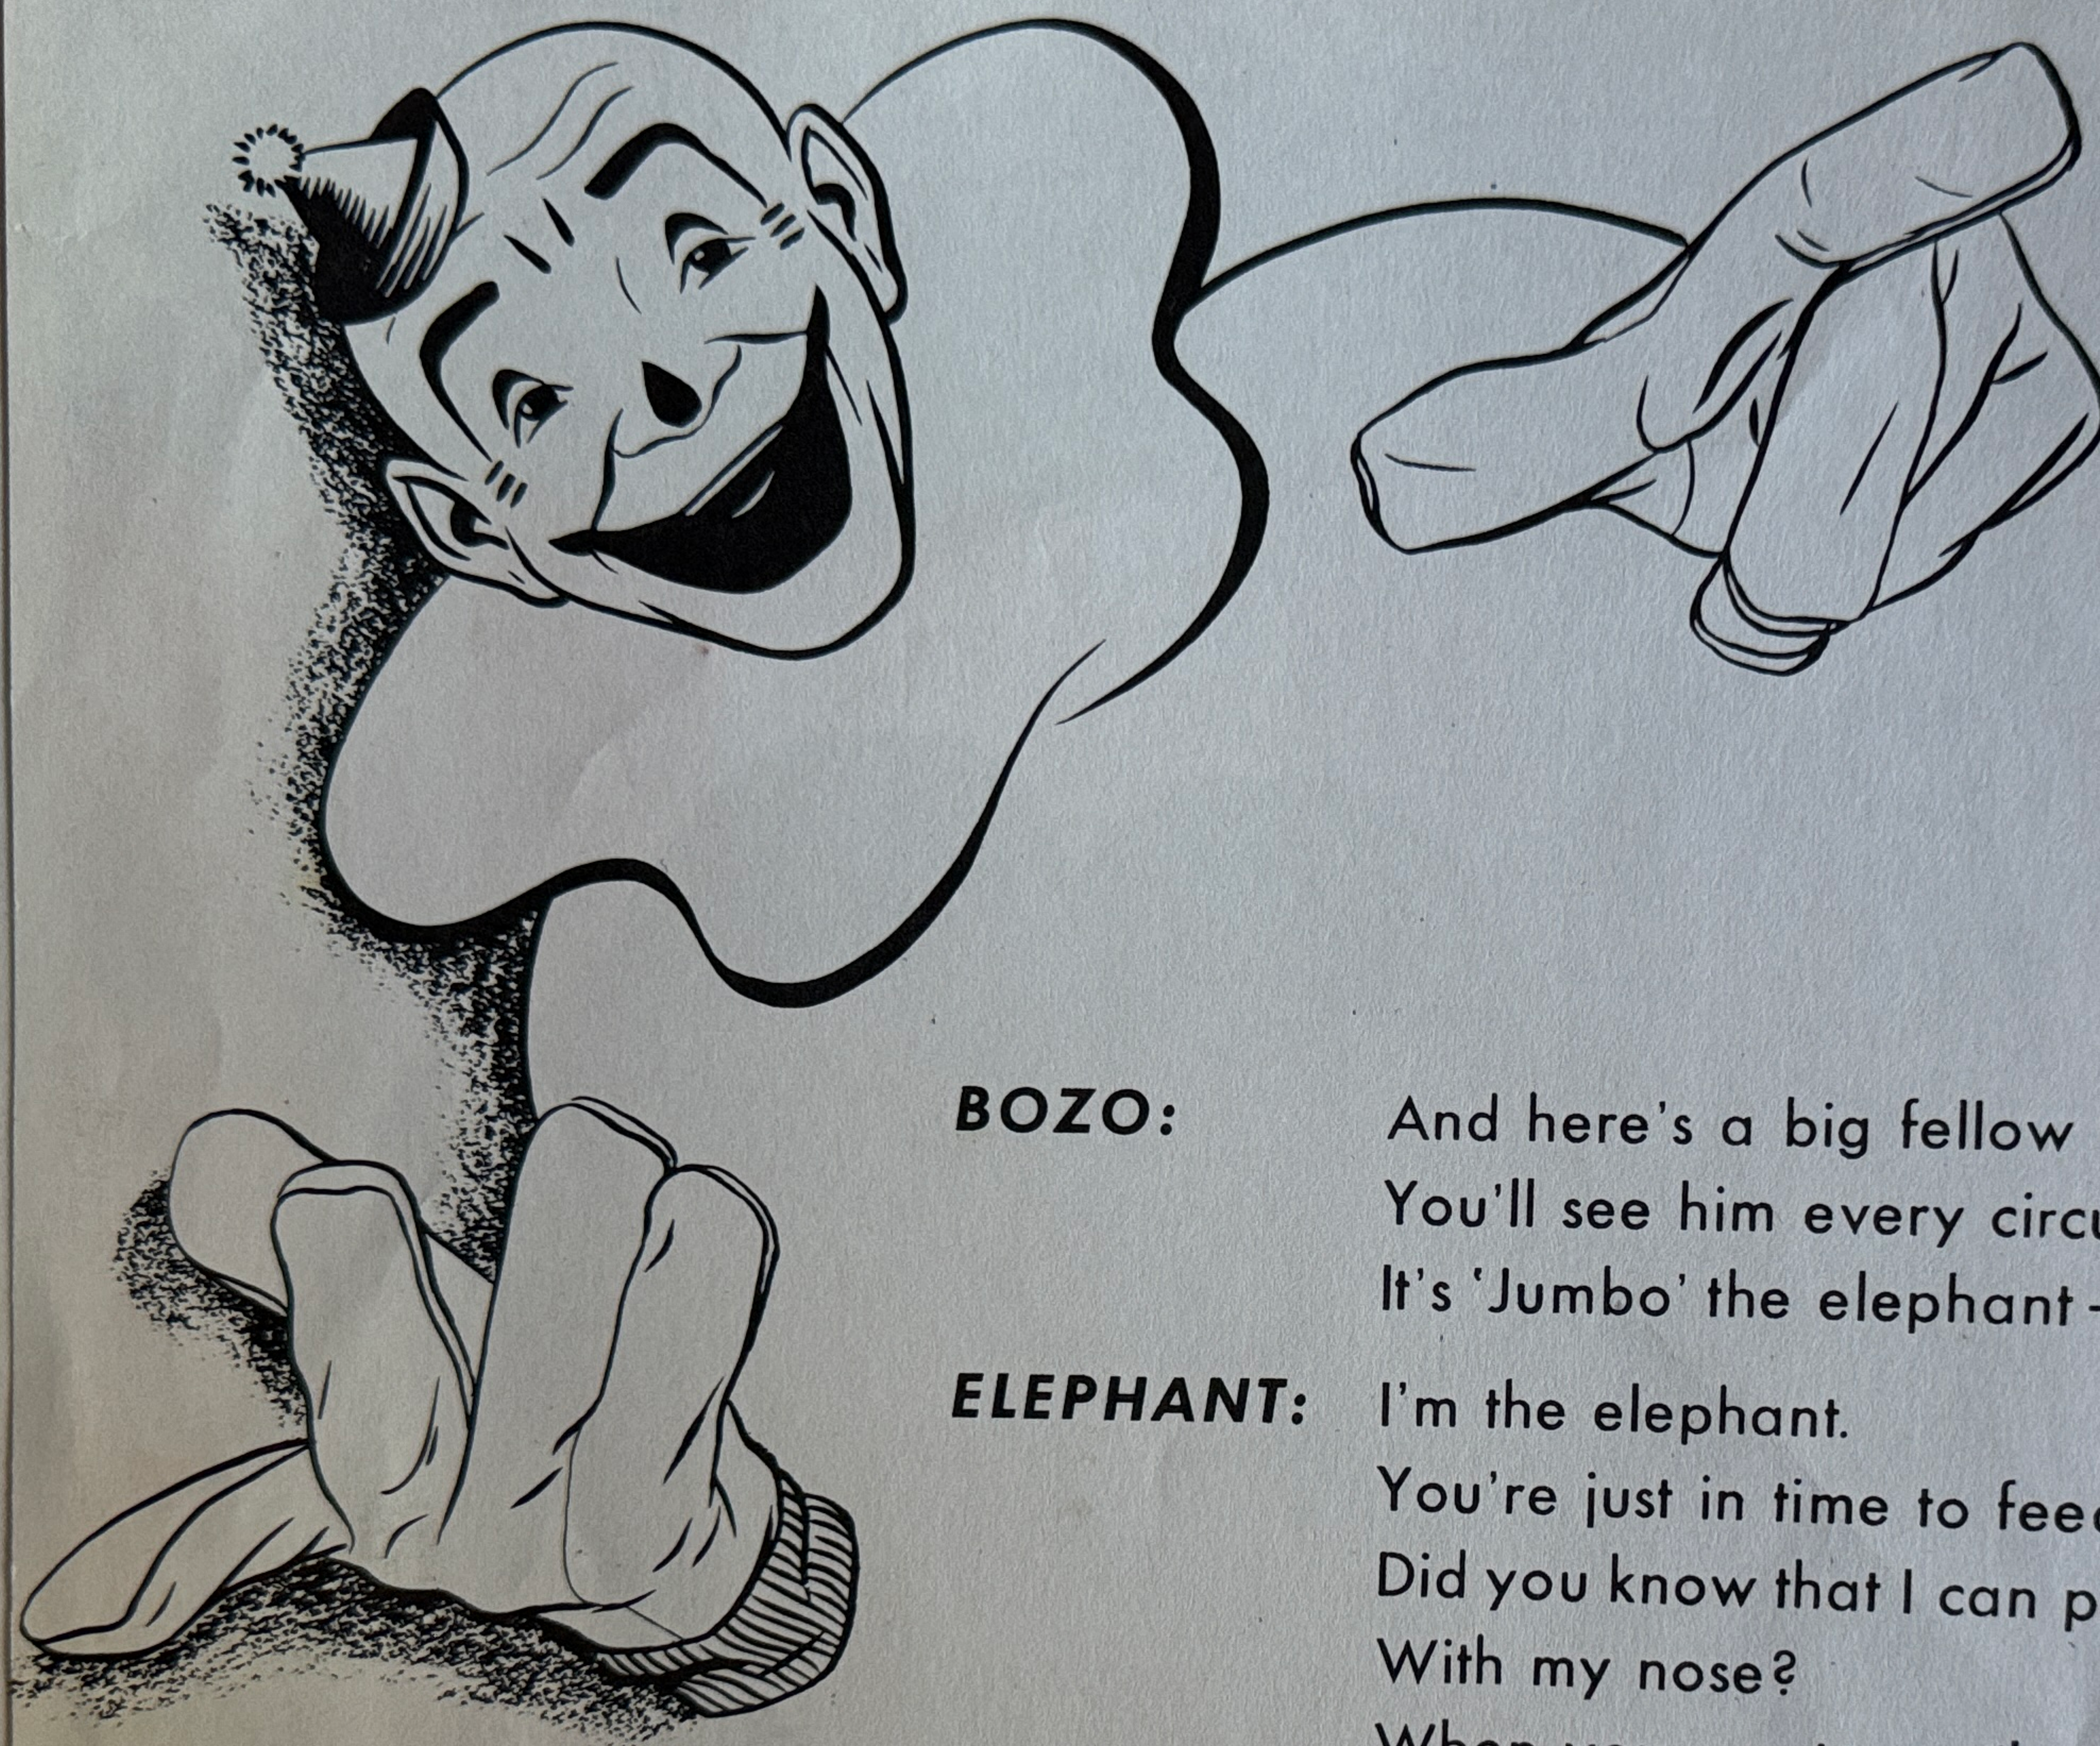

BOZO: Here's the Camel – he's a funny looking beast!
He lives with the Arabs, far away in the East.

CAMEL: I'm the Camel.
I'm called 'the ship of the desert'
And man's best friend.
I can go without water longer than any other animal.
When I travel across the desert,
I never grumble or get cross.
But if my load's too heavy, I don't move.
Those bumps on my back are called 'humps'
Would you like to get up for a ride?

BOZO:

And here's a big fellow who wants to play!
You'll see him every circus day –
It's 'Jumbo' the elephant – hooray!

ELEPHANT:

I'm the elephant.
You're just in time to feed me some peanuts.
Did you know that I can pick them up from the ground
With my nose?
When you are two miles away
I can smell you coming.
Some nose, eh?
Some of the other elephants only do the heavy work
In the circus.
Not me. I do tricks in the main ring.
I hear the band playing.
I think it is time for the big parade.
I hope you like the show.

BOZO:

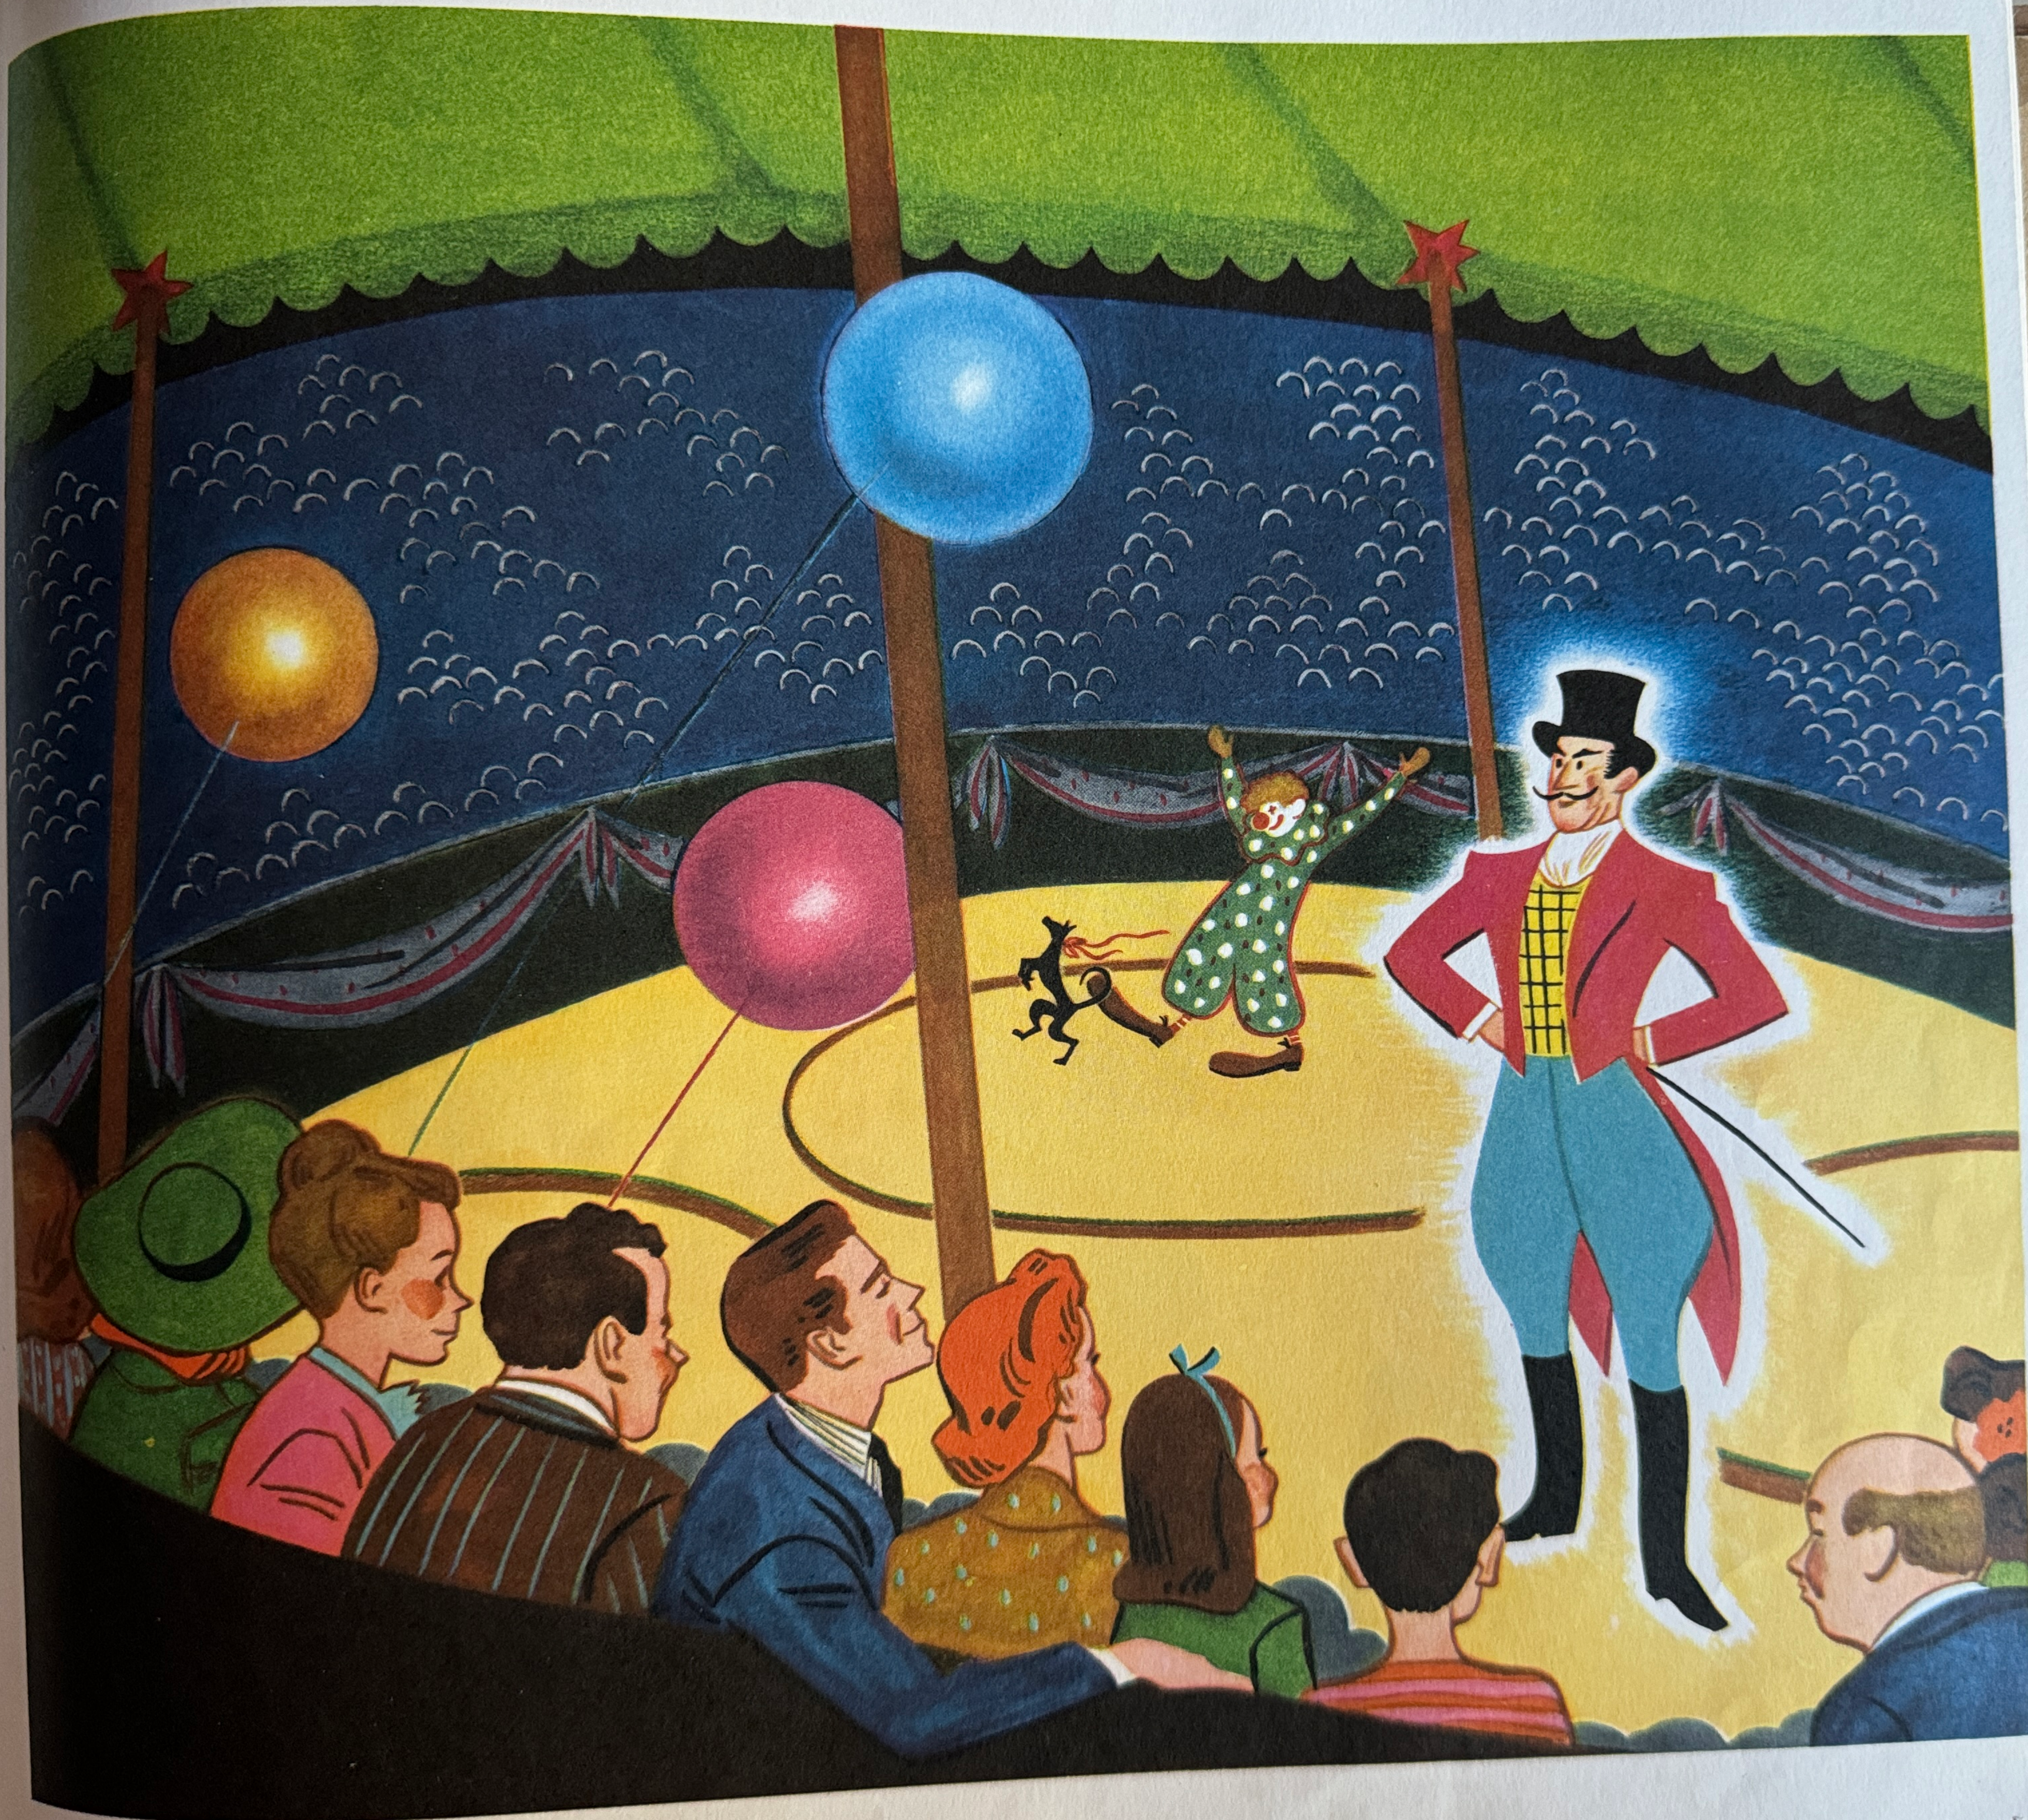

The circus show is about to begin—
It's all in the big tent, so let's go in!

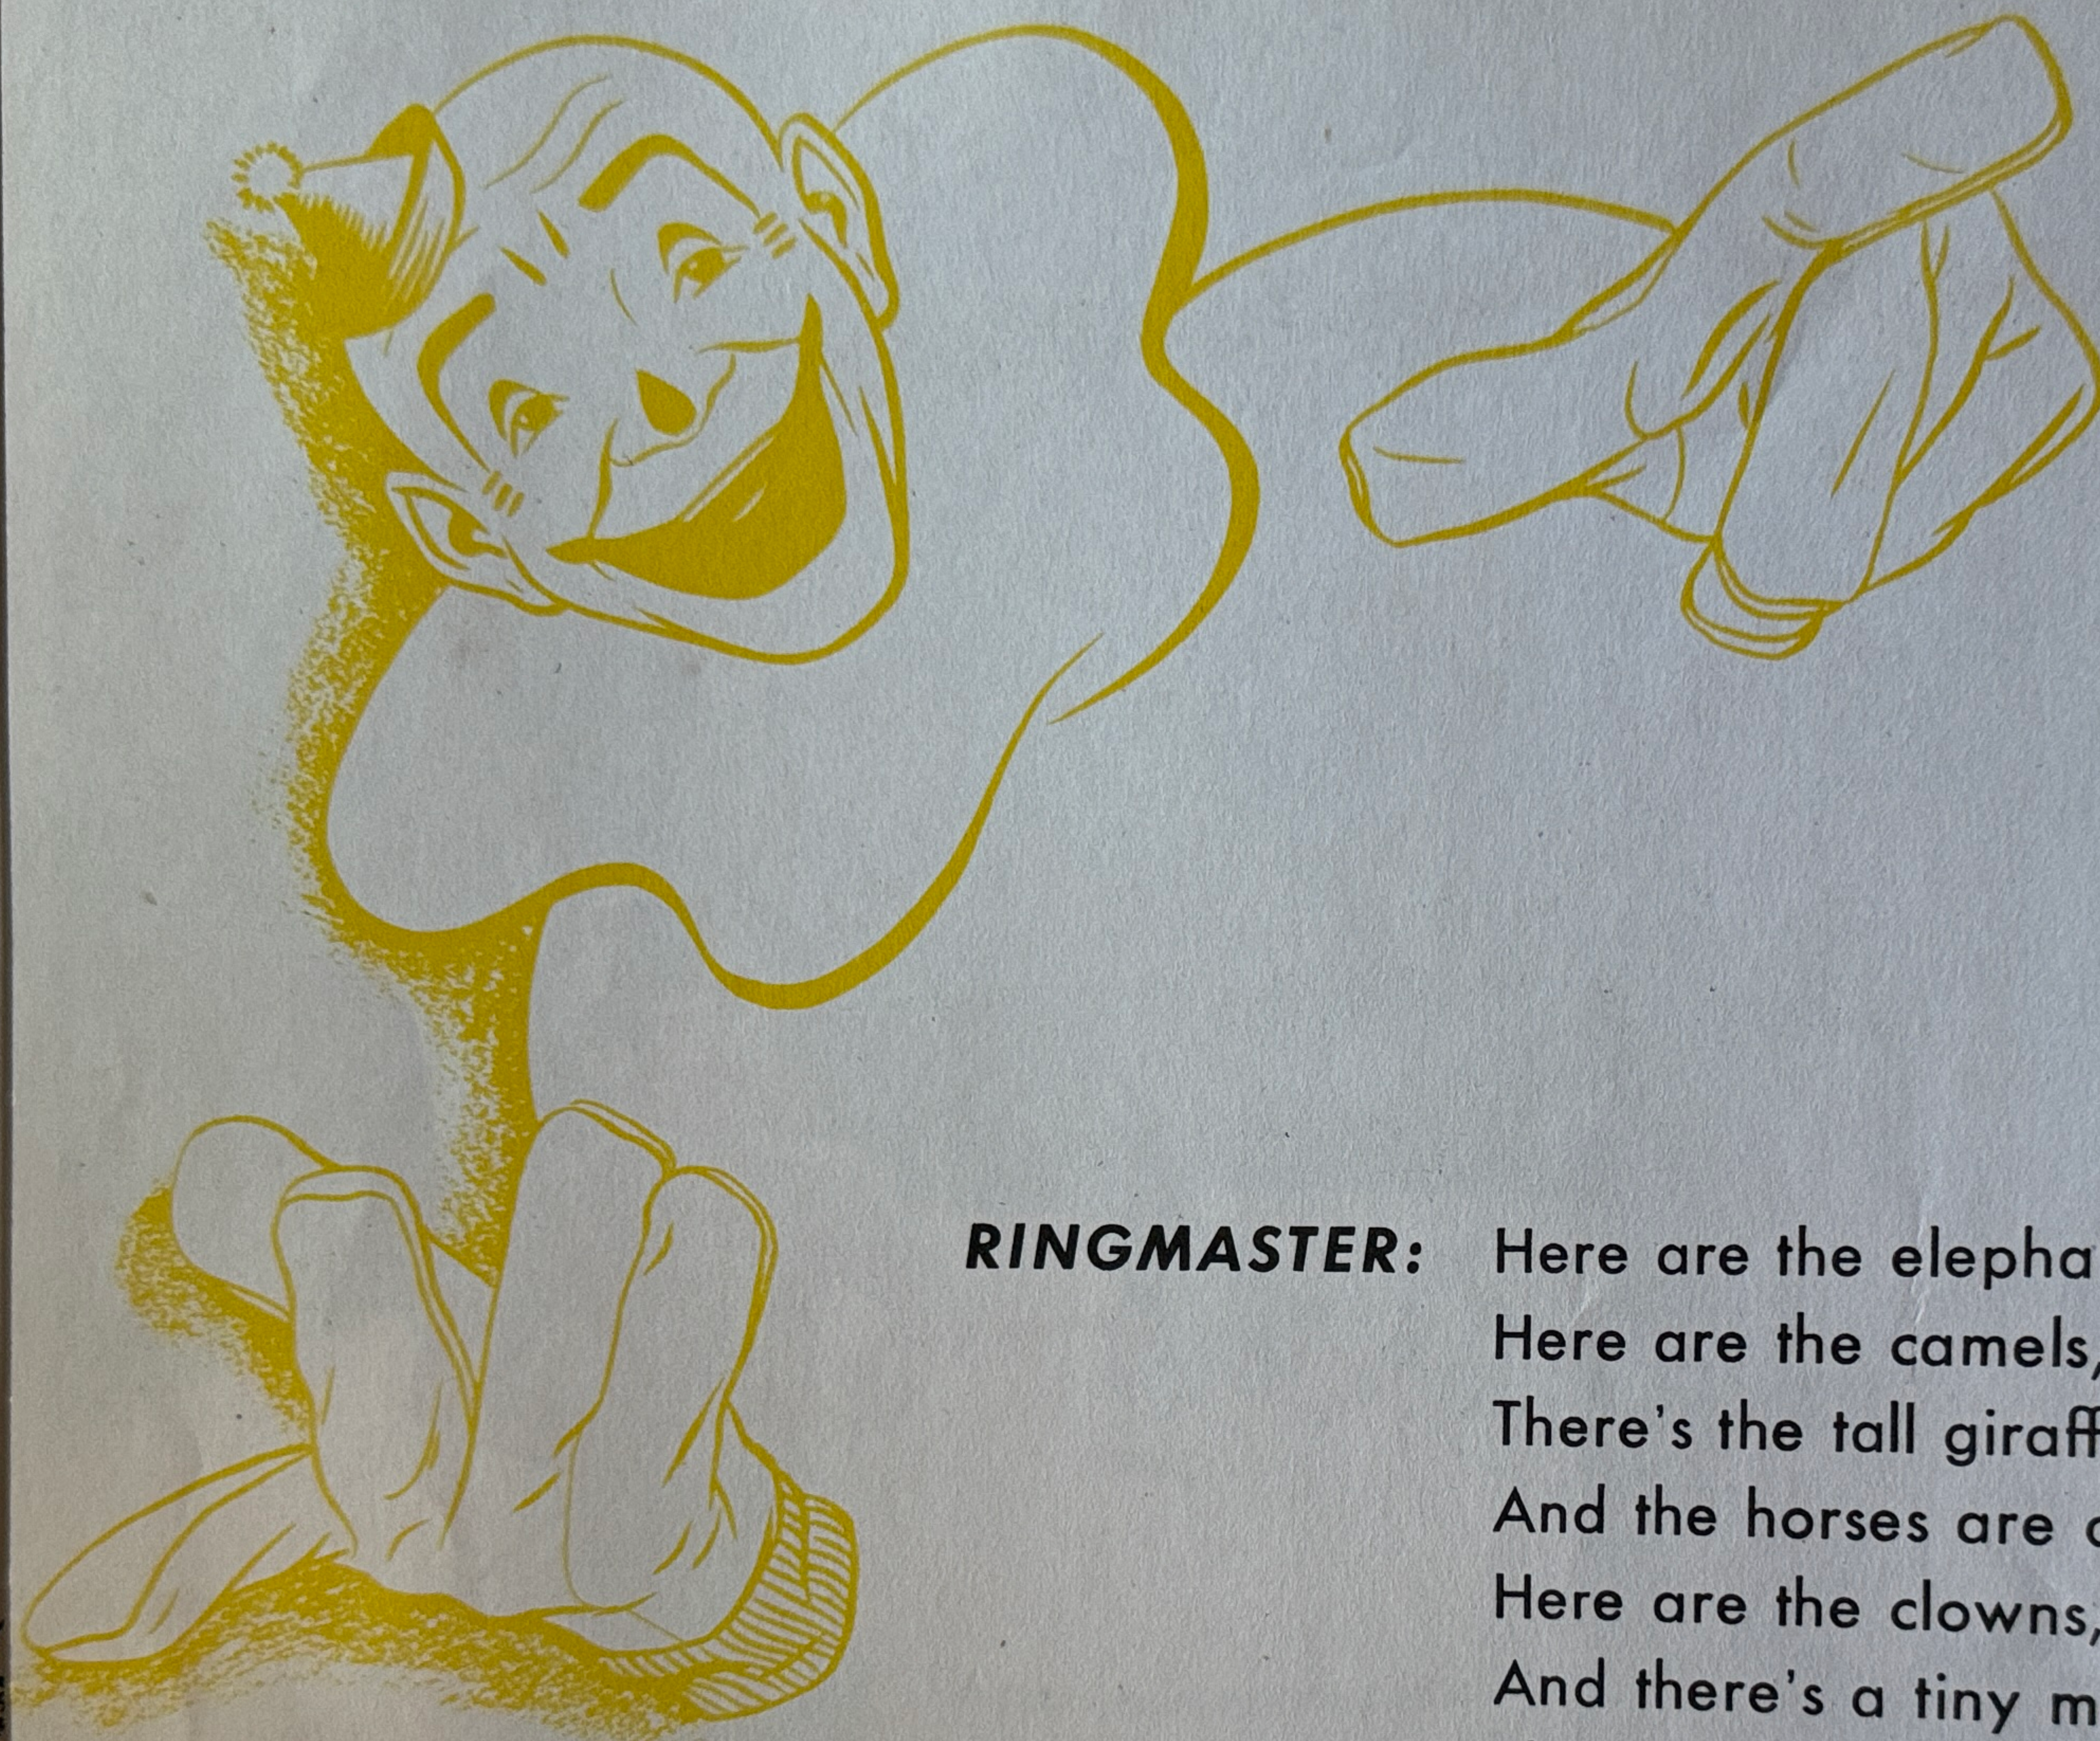

Just look at all the people here!
How high and big the tent is.
There are the circus rings
Where the circus people and animals
Do their tricks.

Well, I gotta go now to be with the rest of the clowns.
You just listen to that man in the high silk hat—
He's called the Ringmaster.
But let's change the record first.

RINGMASTER: The big parade will now begin!

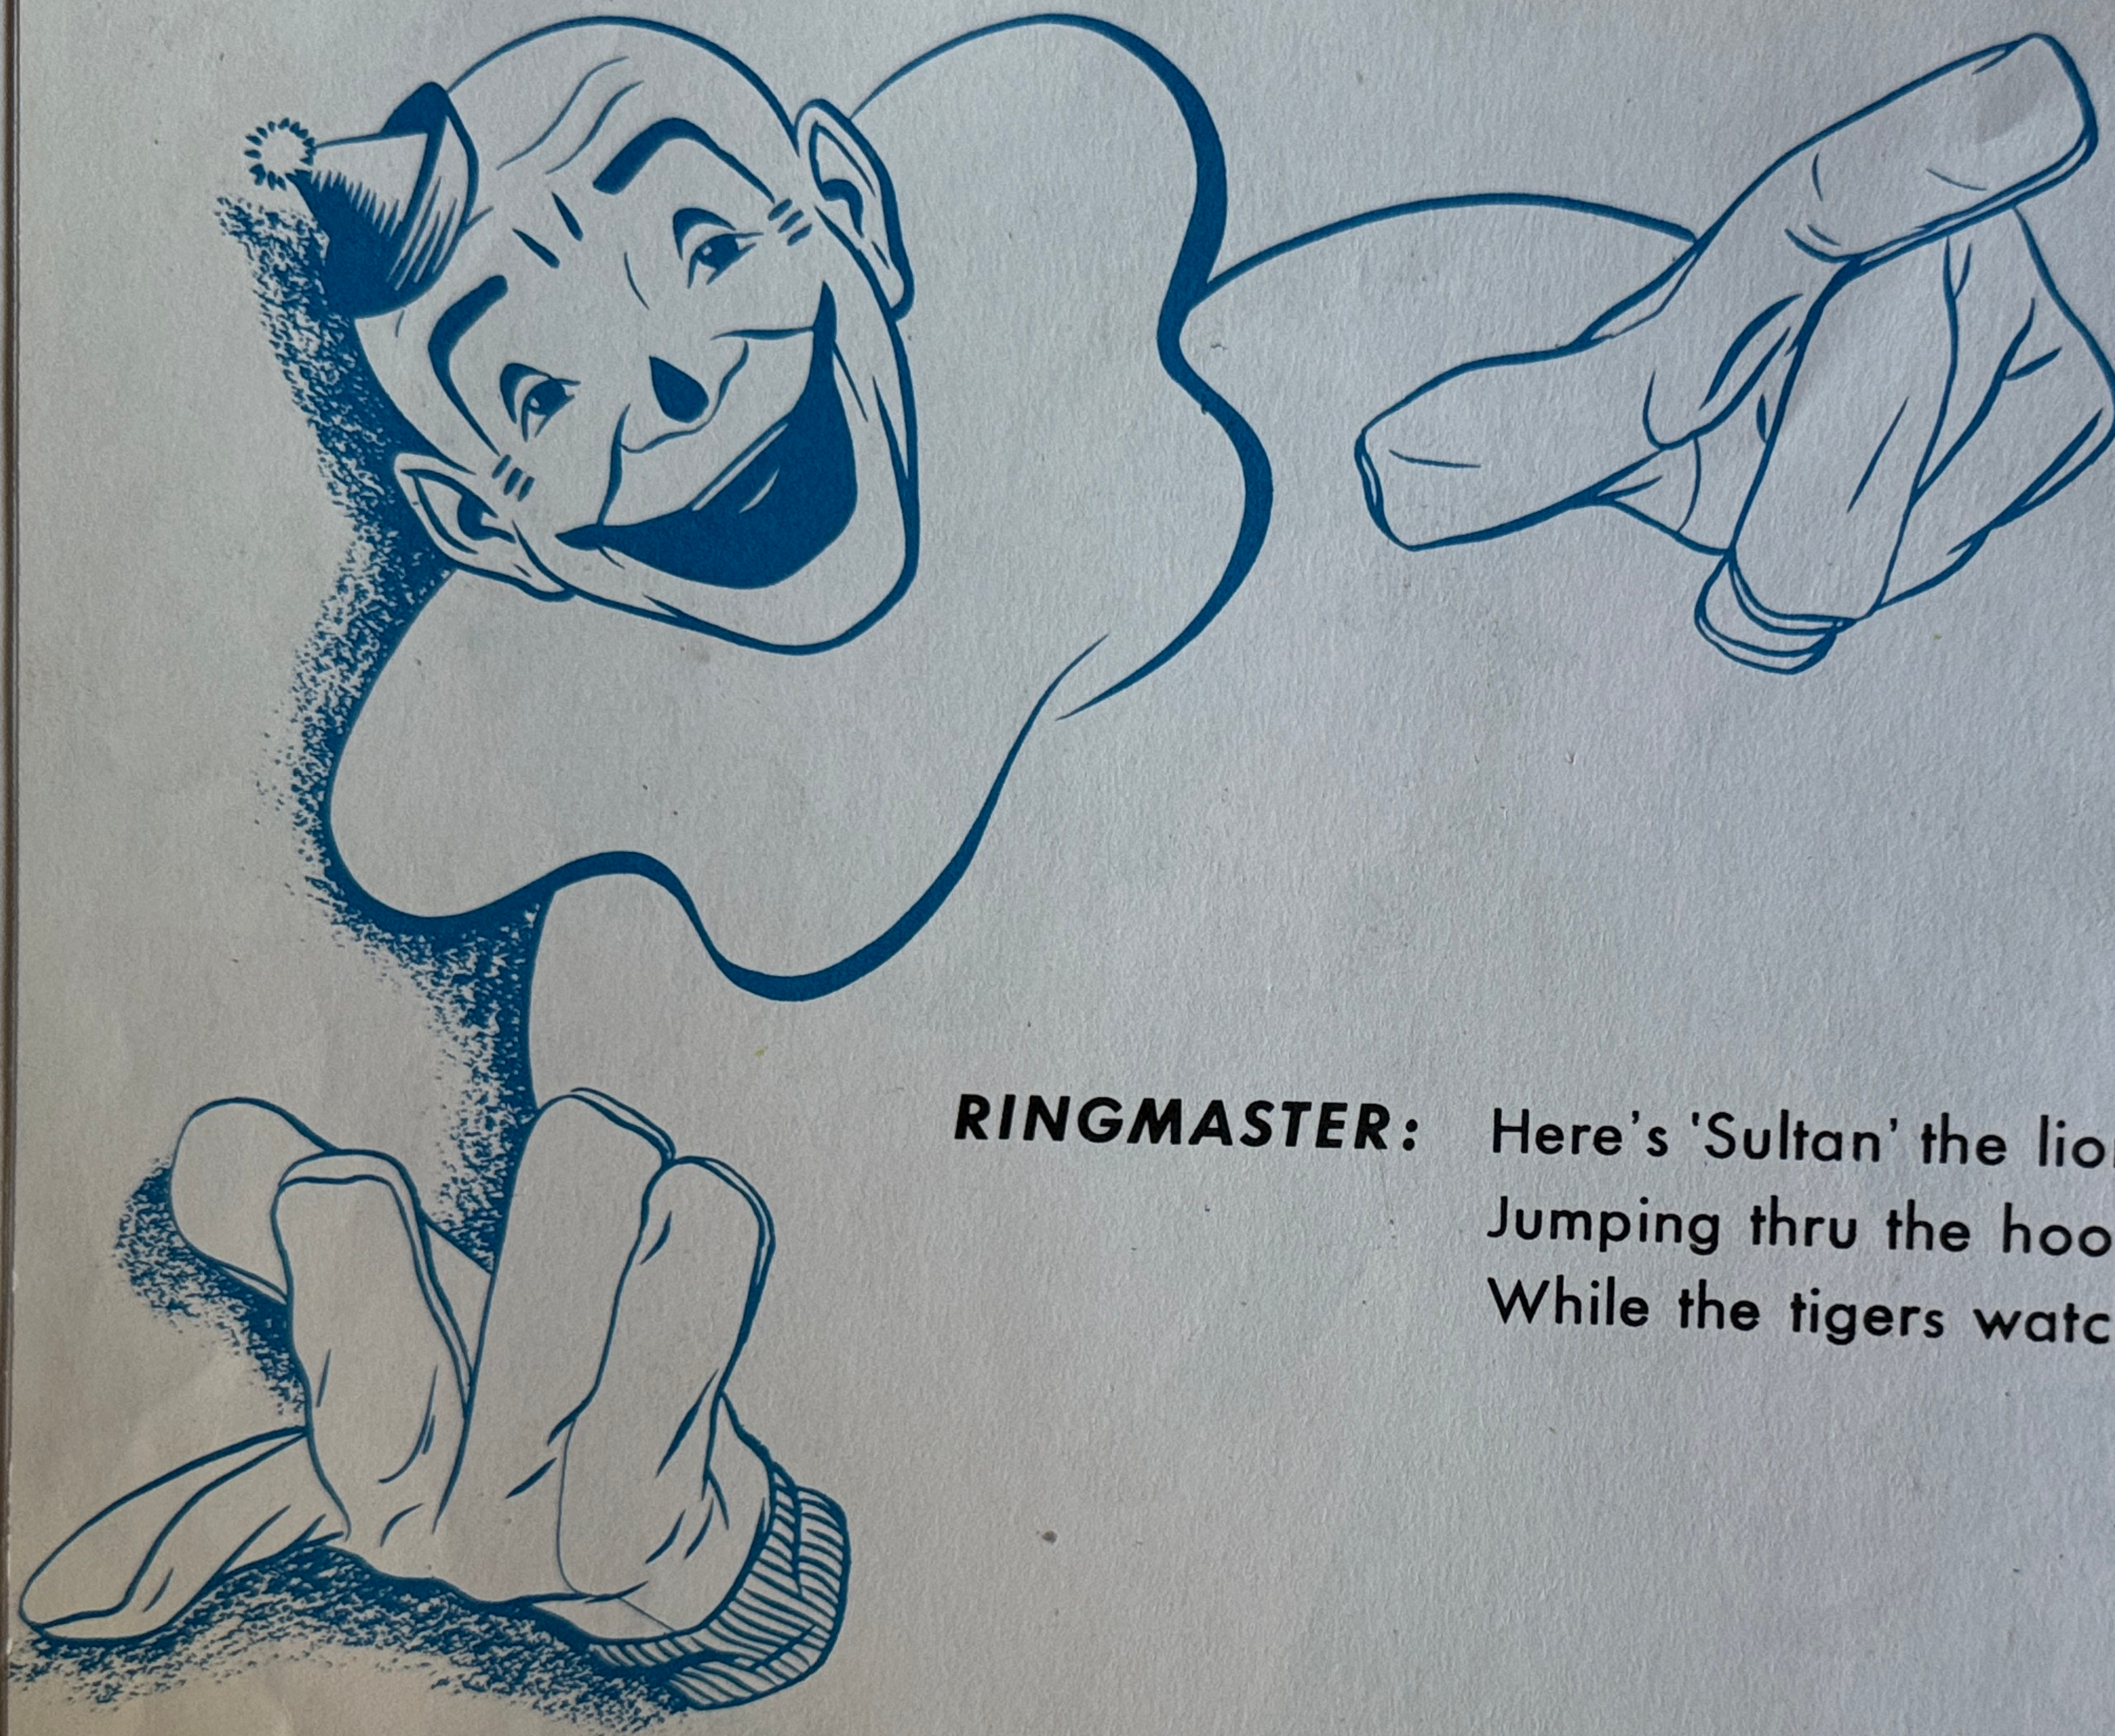

owns.

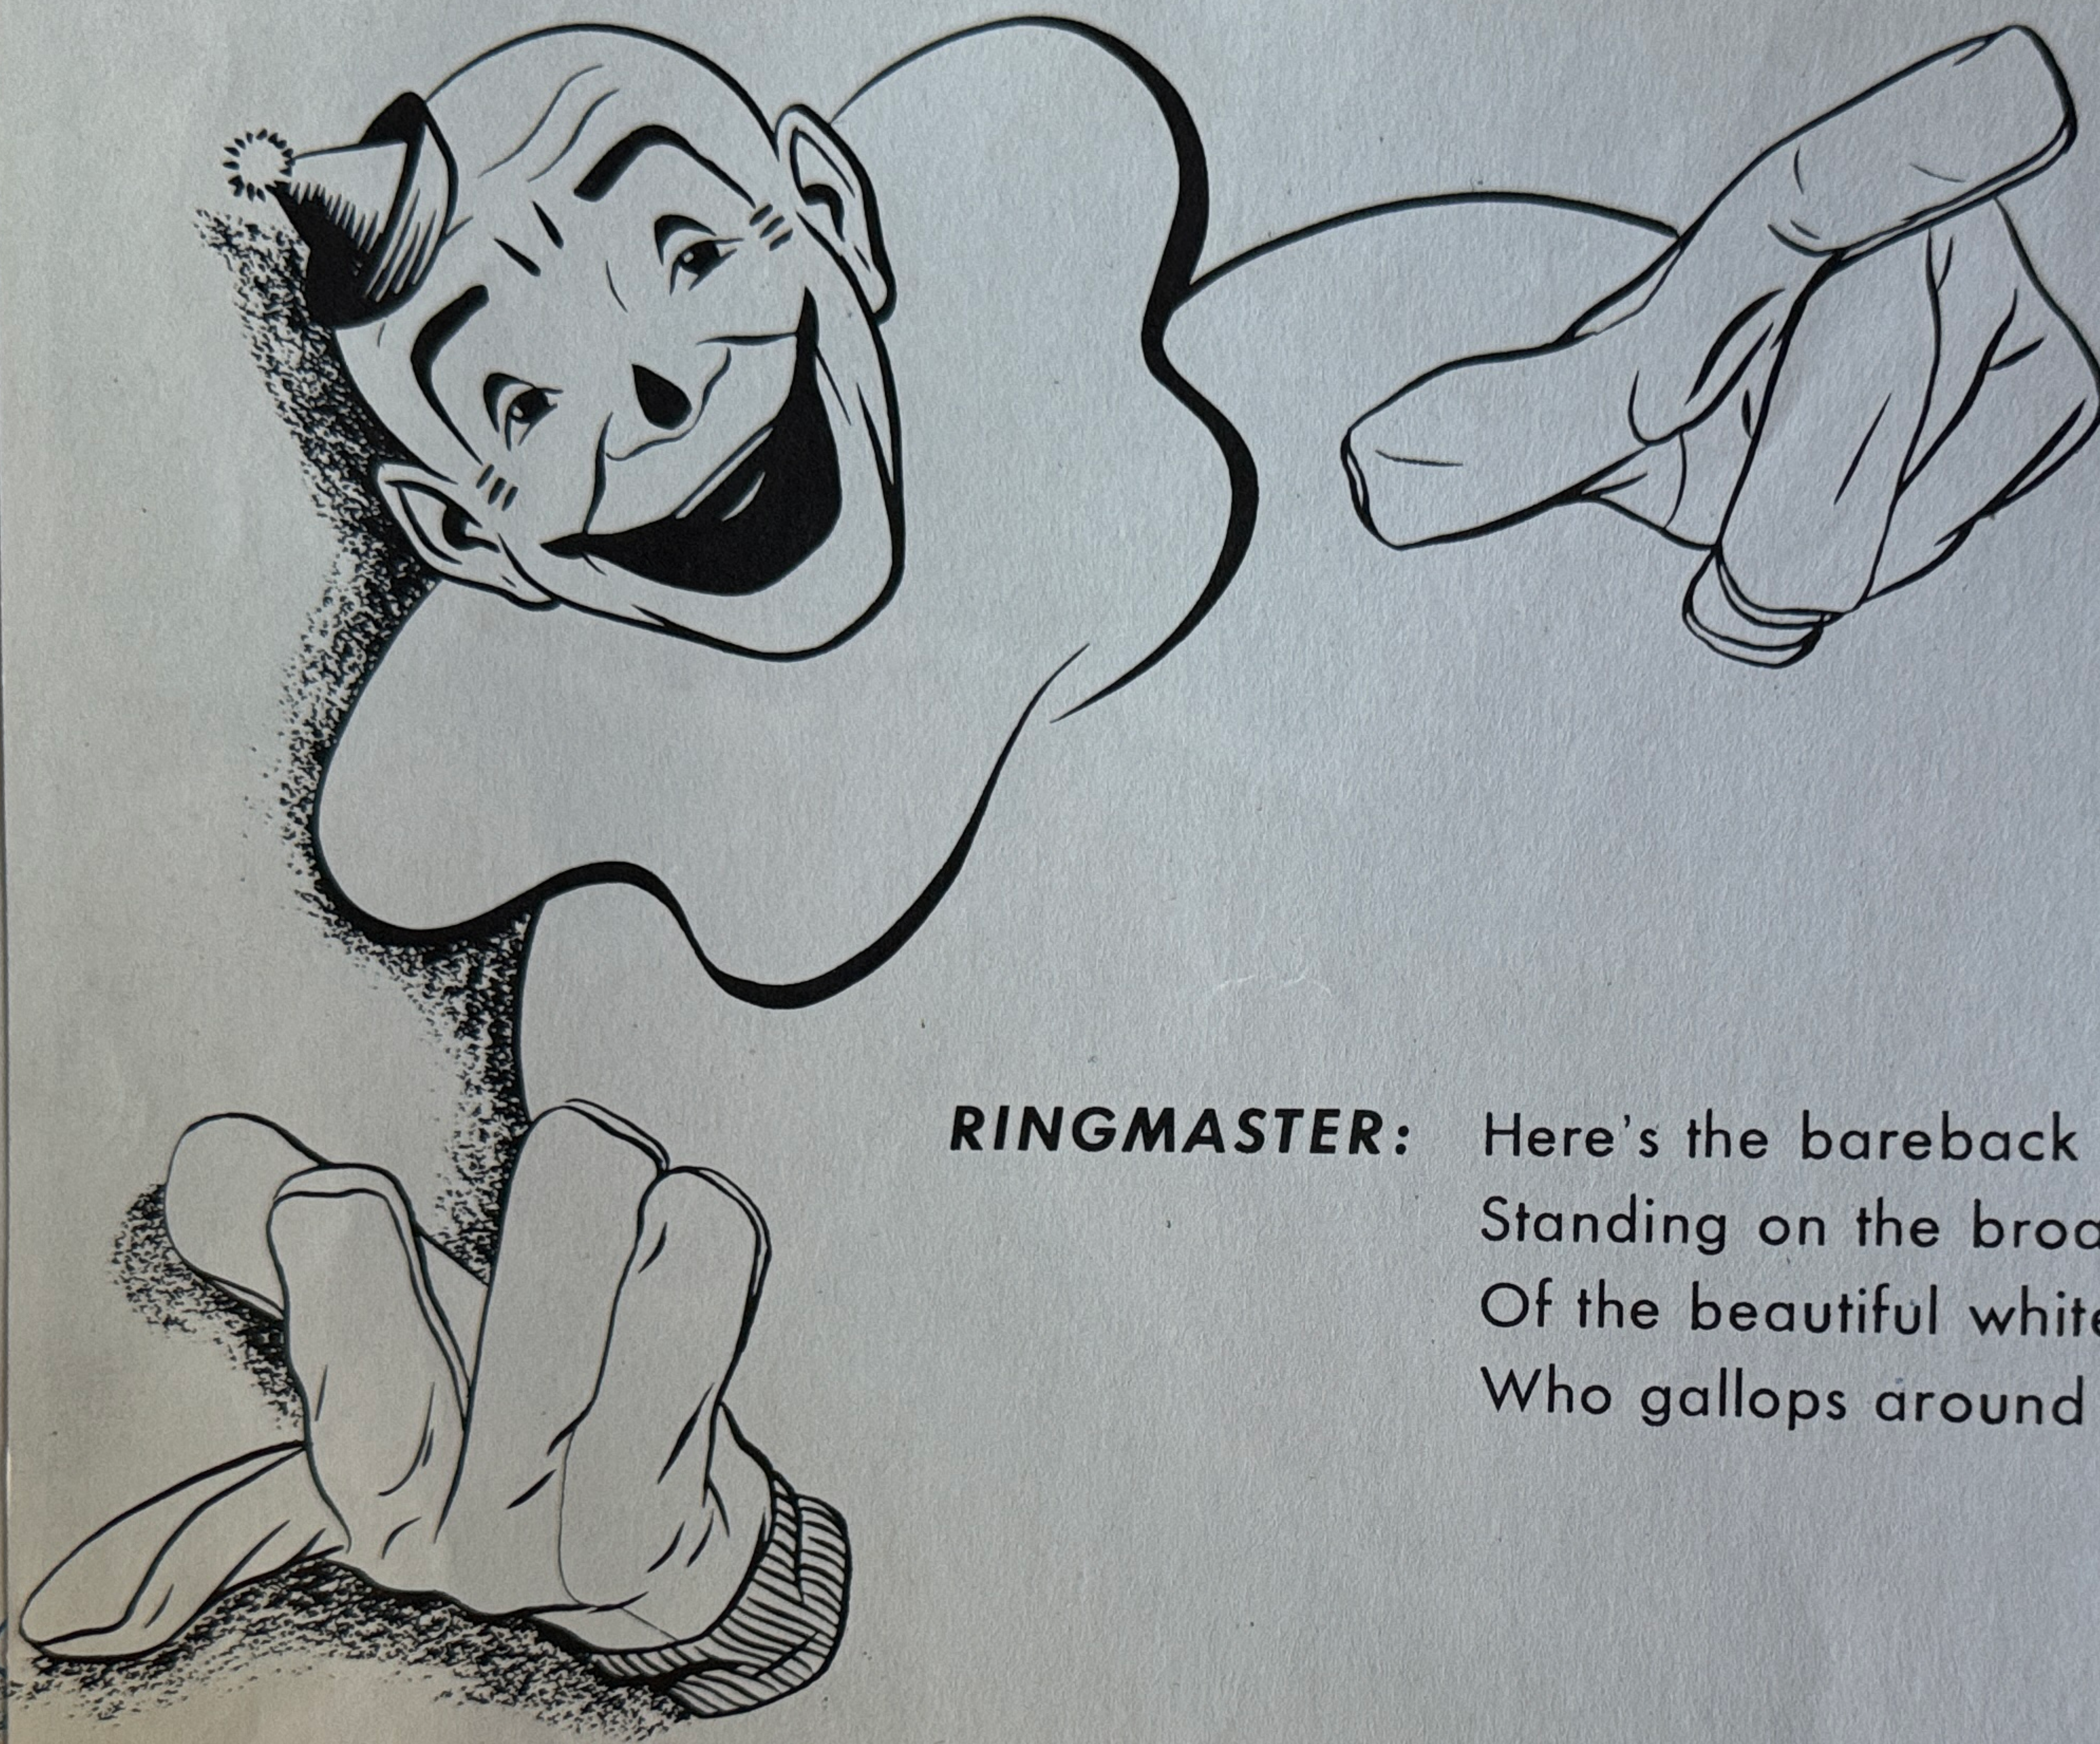

RINGMASTER: Here are the elephants all dressed up.
Here are the camels, too!
There's the tall giraffe that made you laugh,
And the horses are dancing for you.
Here are the clowns, they are so much fun!
And there's a tiny midget, he's the smallest one.
There's a little dog on a small billy goat
Right beside the giant with the long green coat.
The Parade is over. Now turn the page
And see the lion in the great, big cage.

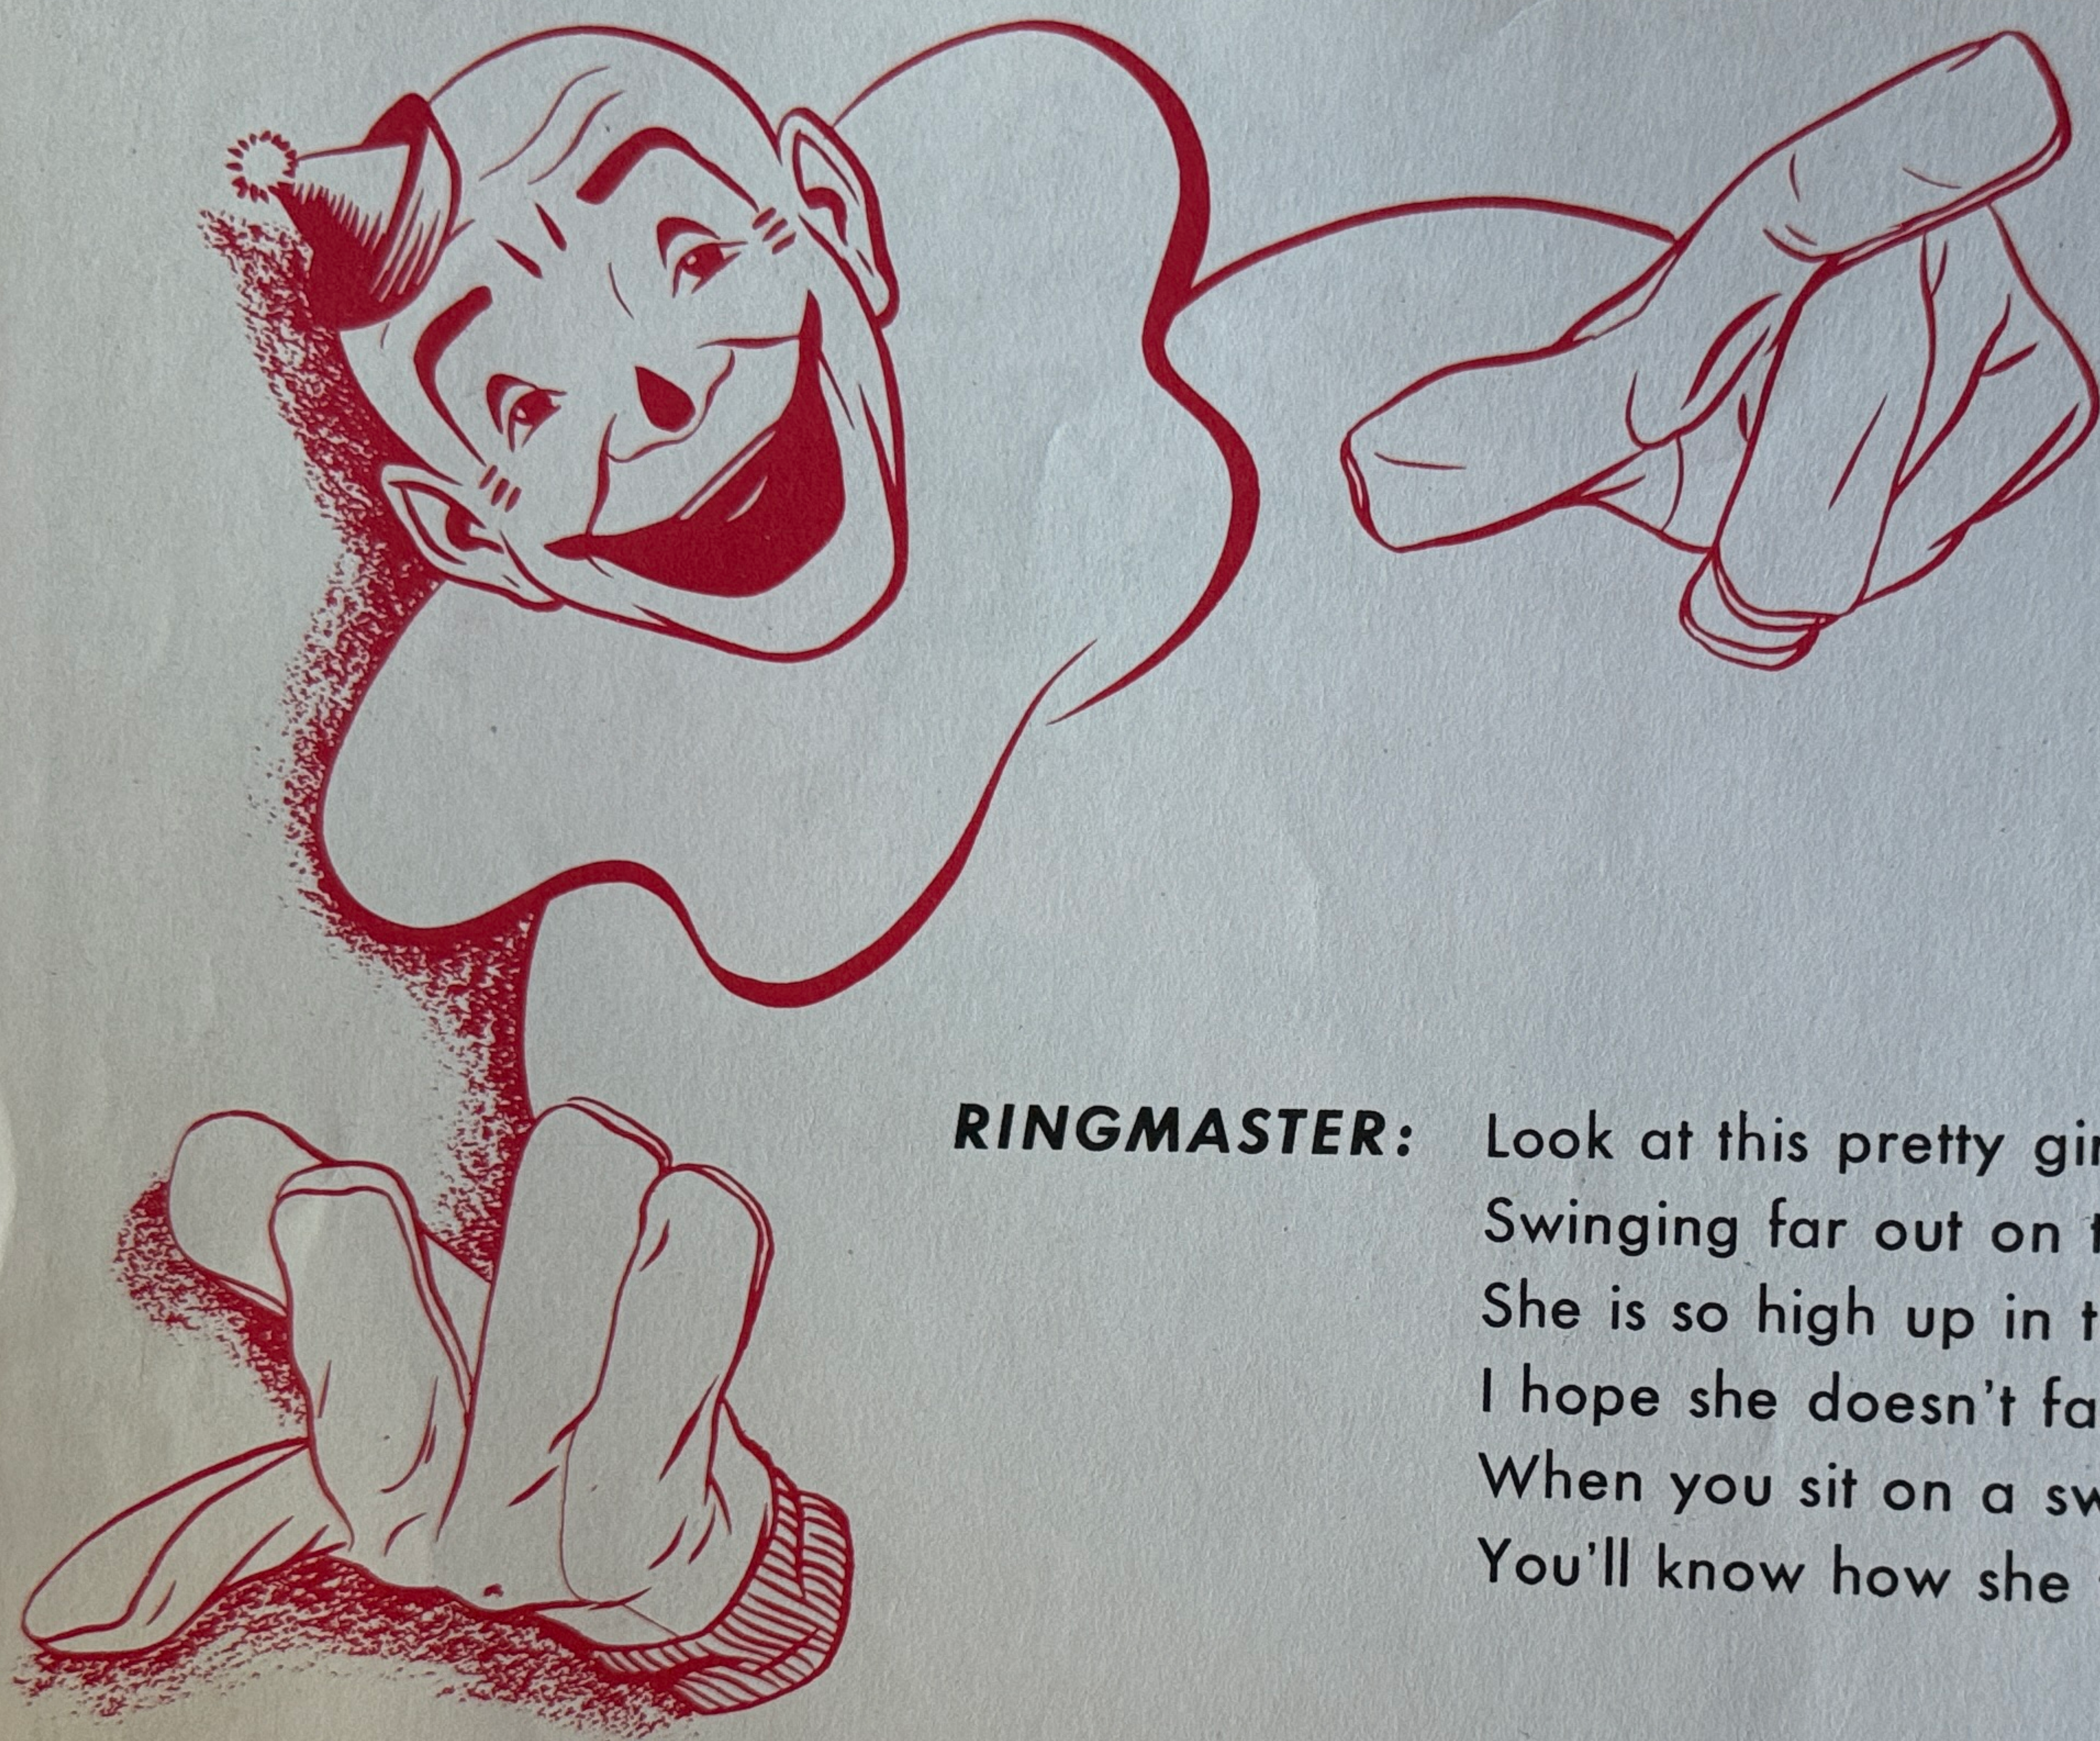

RINGMASTER: Here's 'Sultan' the lion
Jumping thru the hoop,
While the tigers watch his every move.

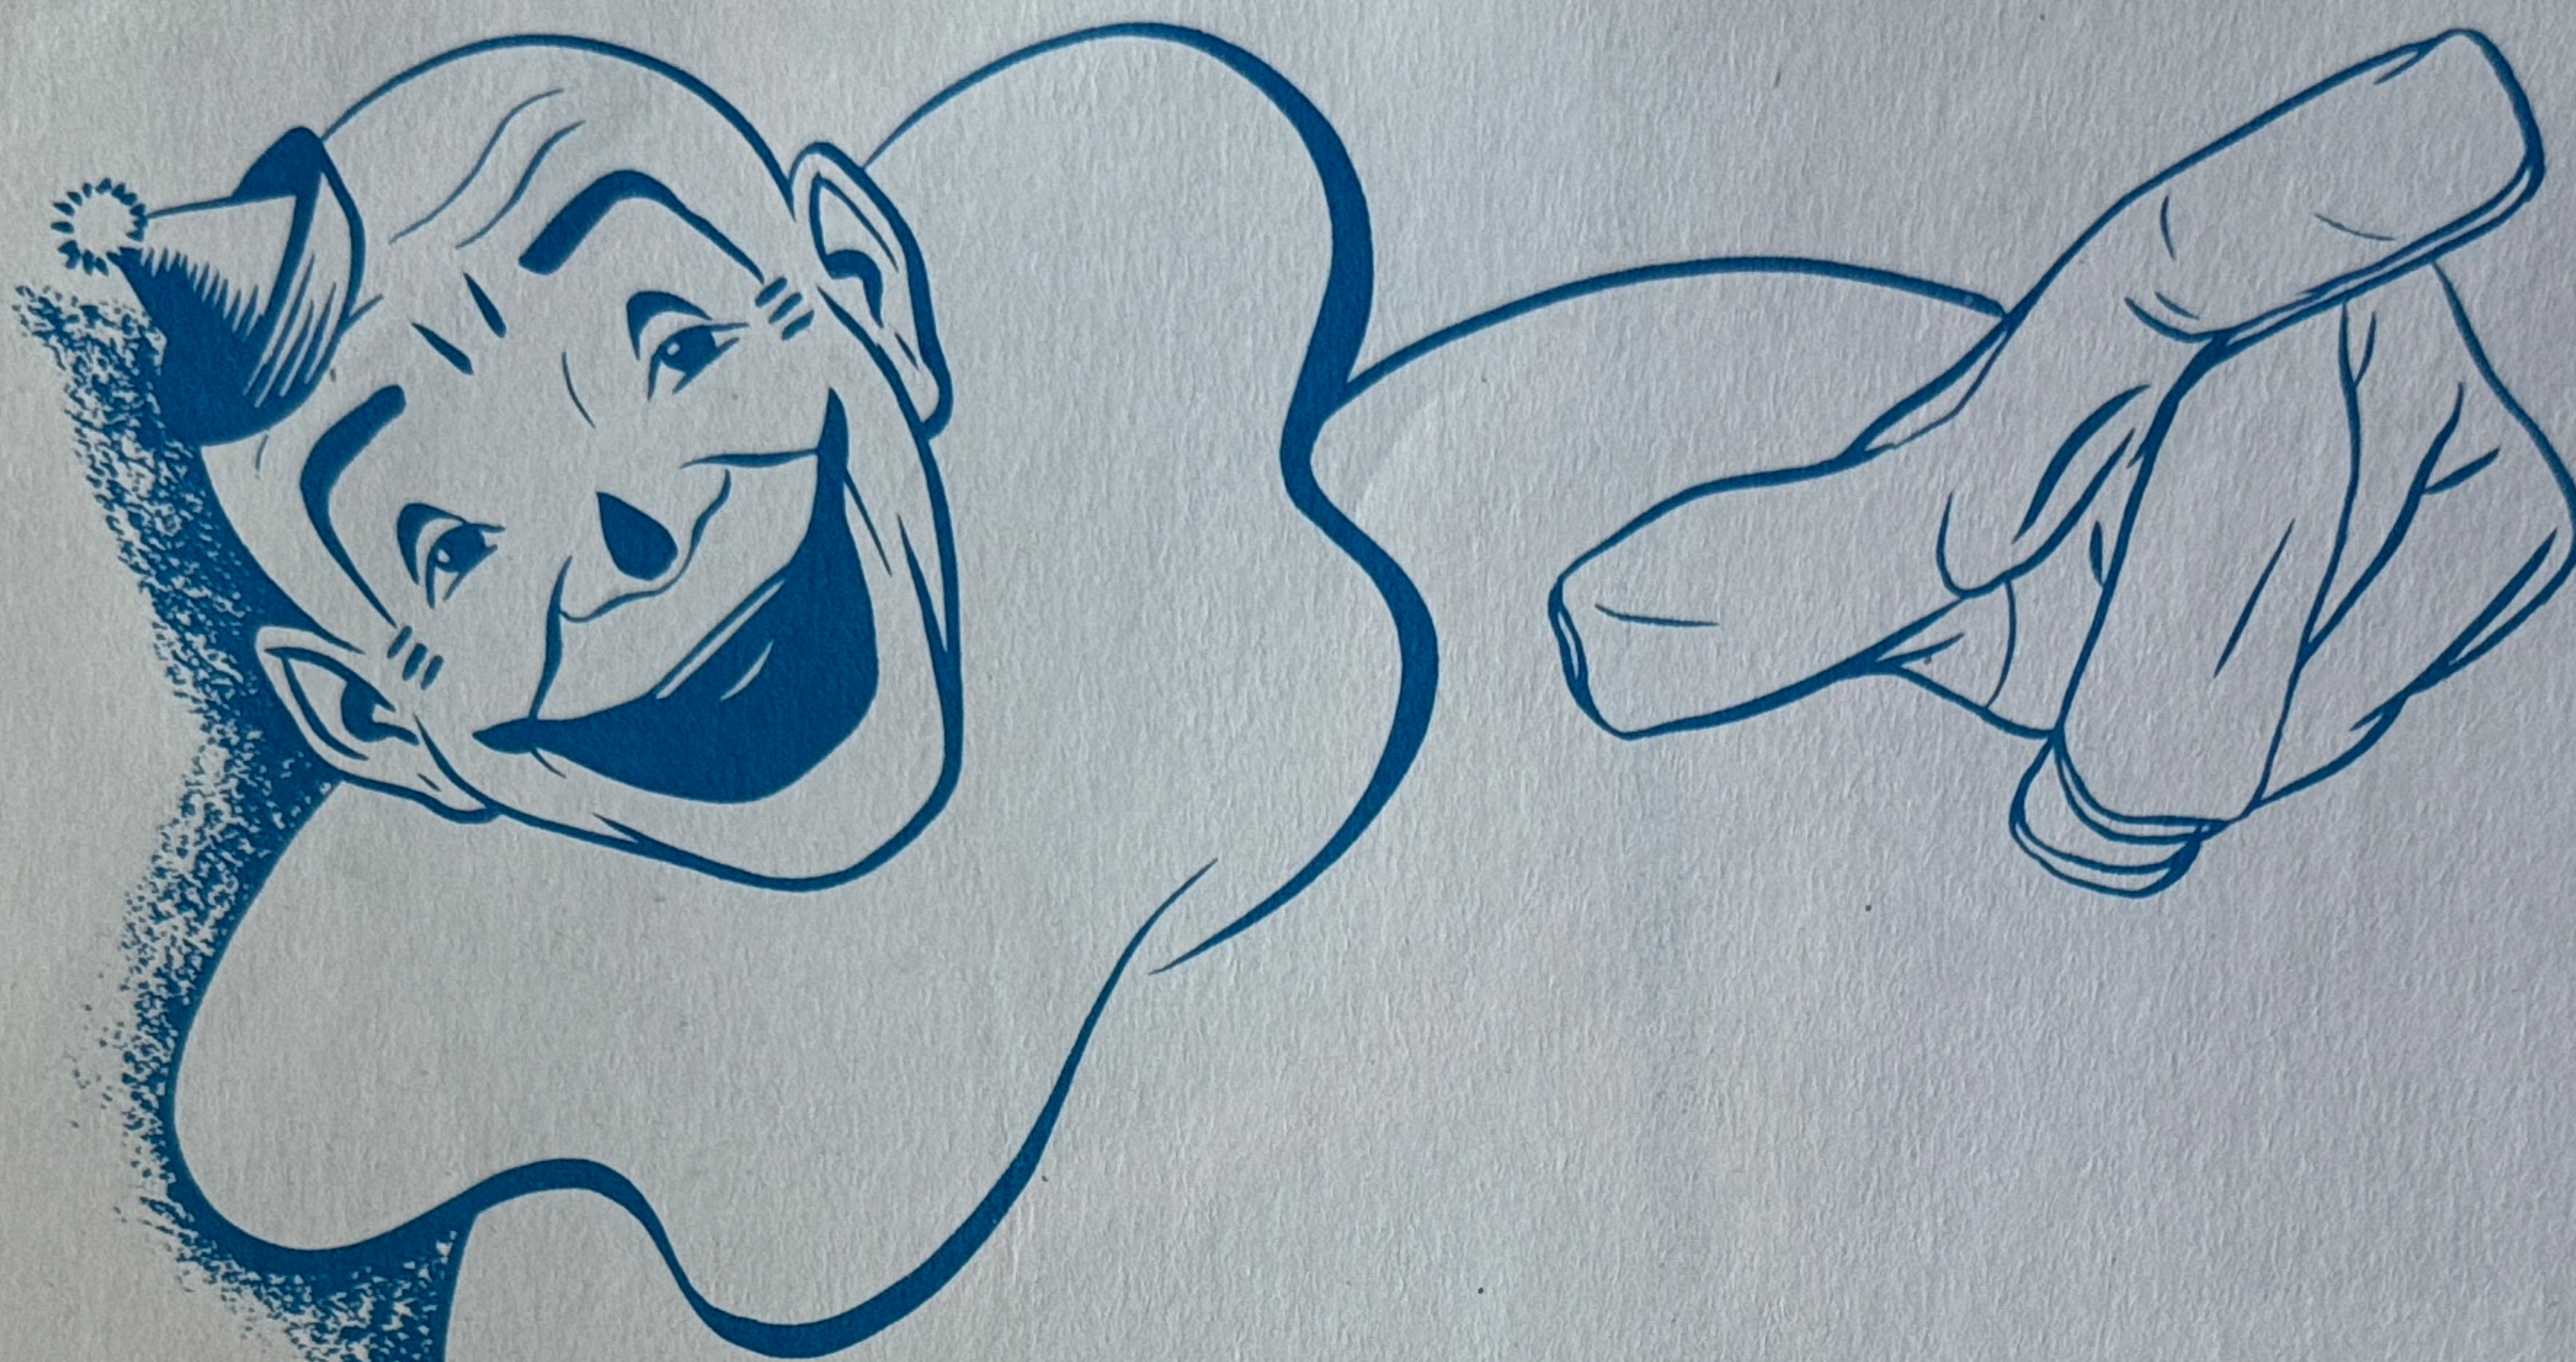

RINGMASTER: Here's the bareback rider
Standing on the broad back
Of the beautiful white horse
Who gallops around the ring.

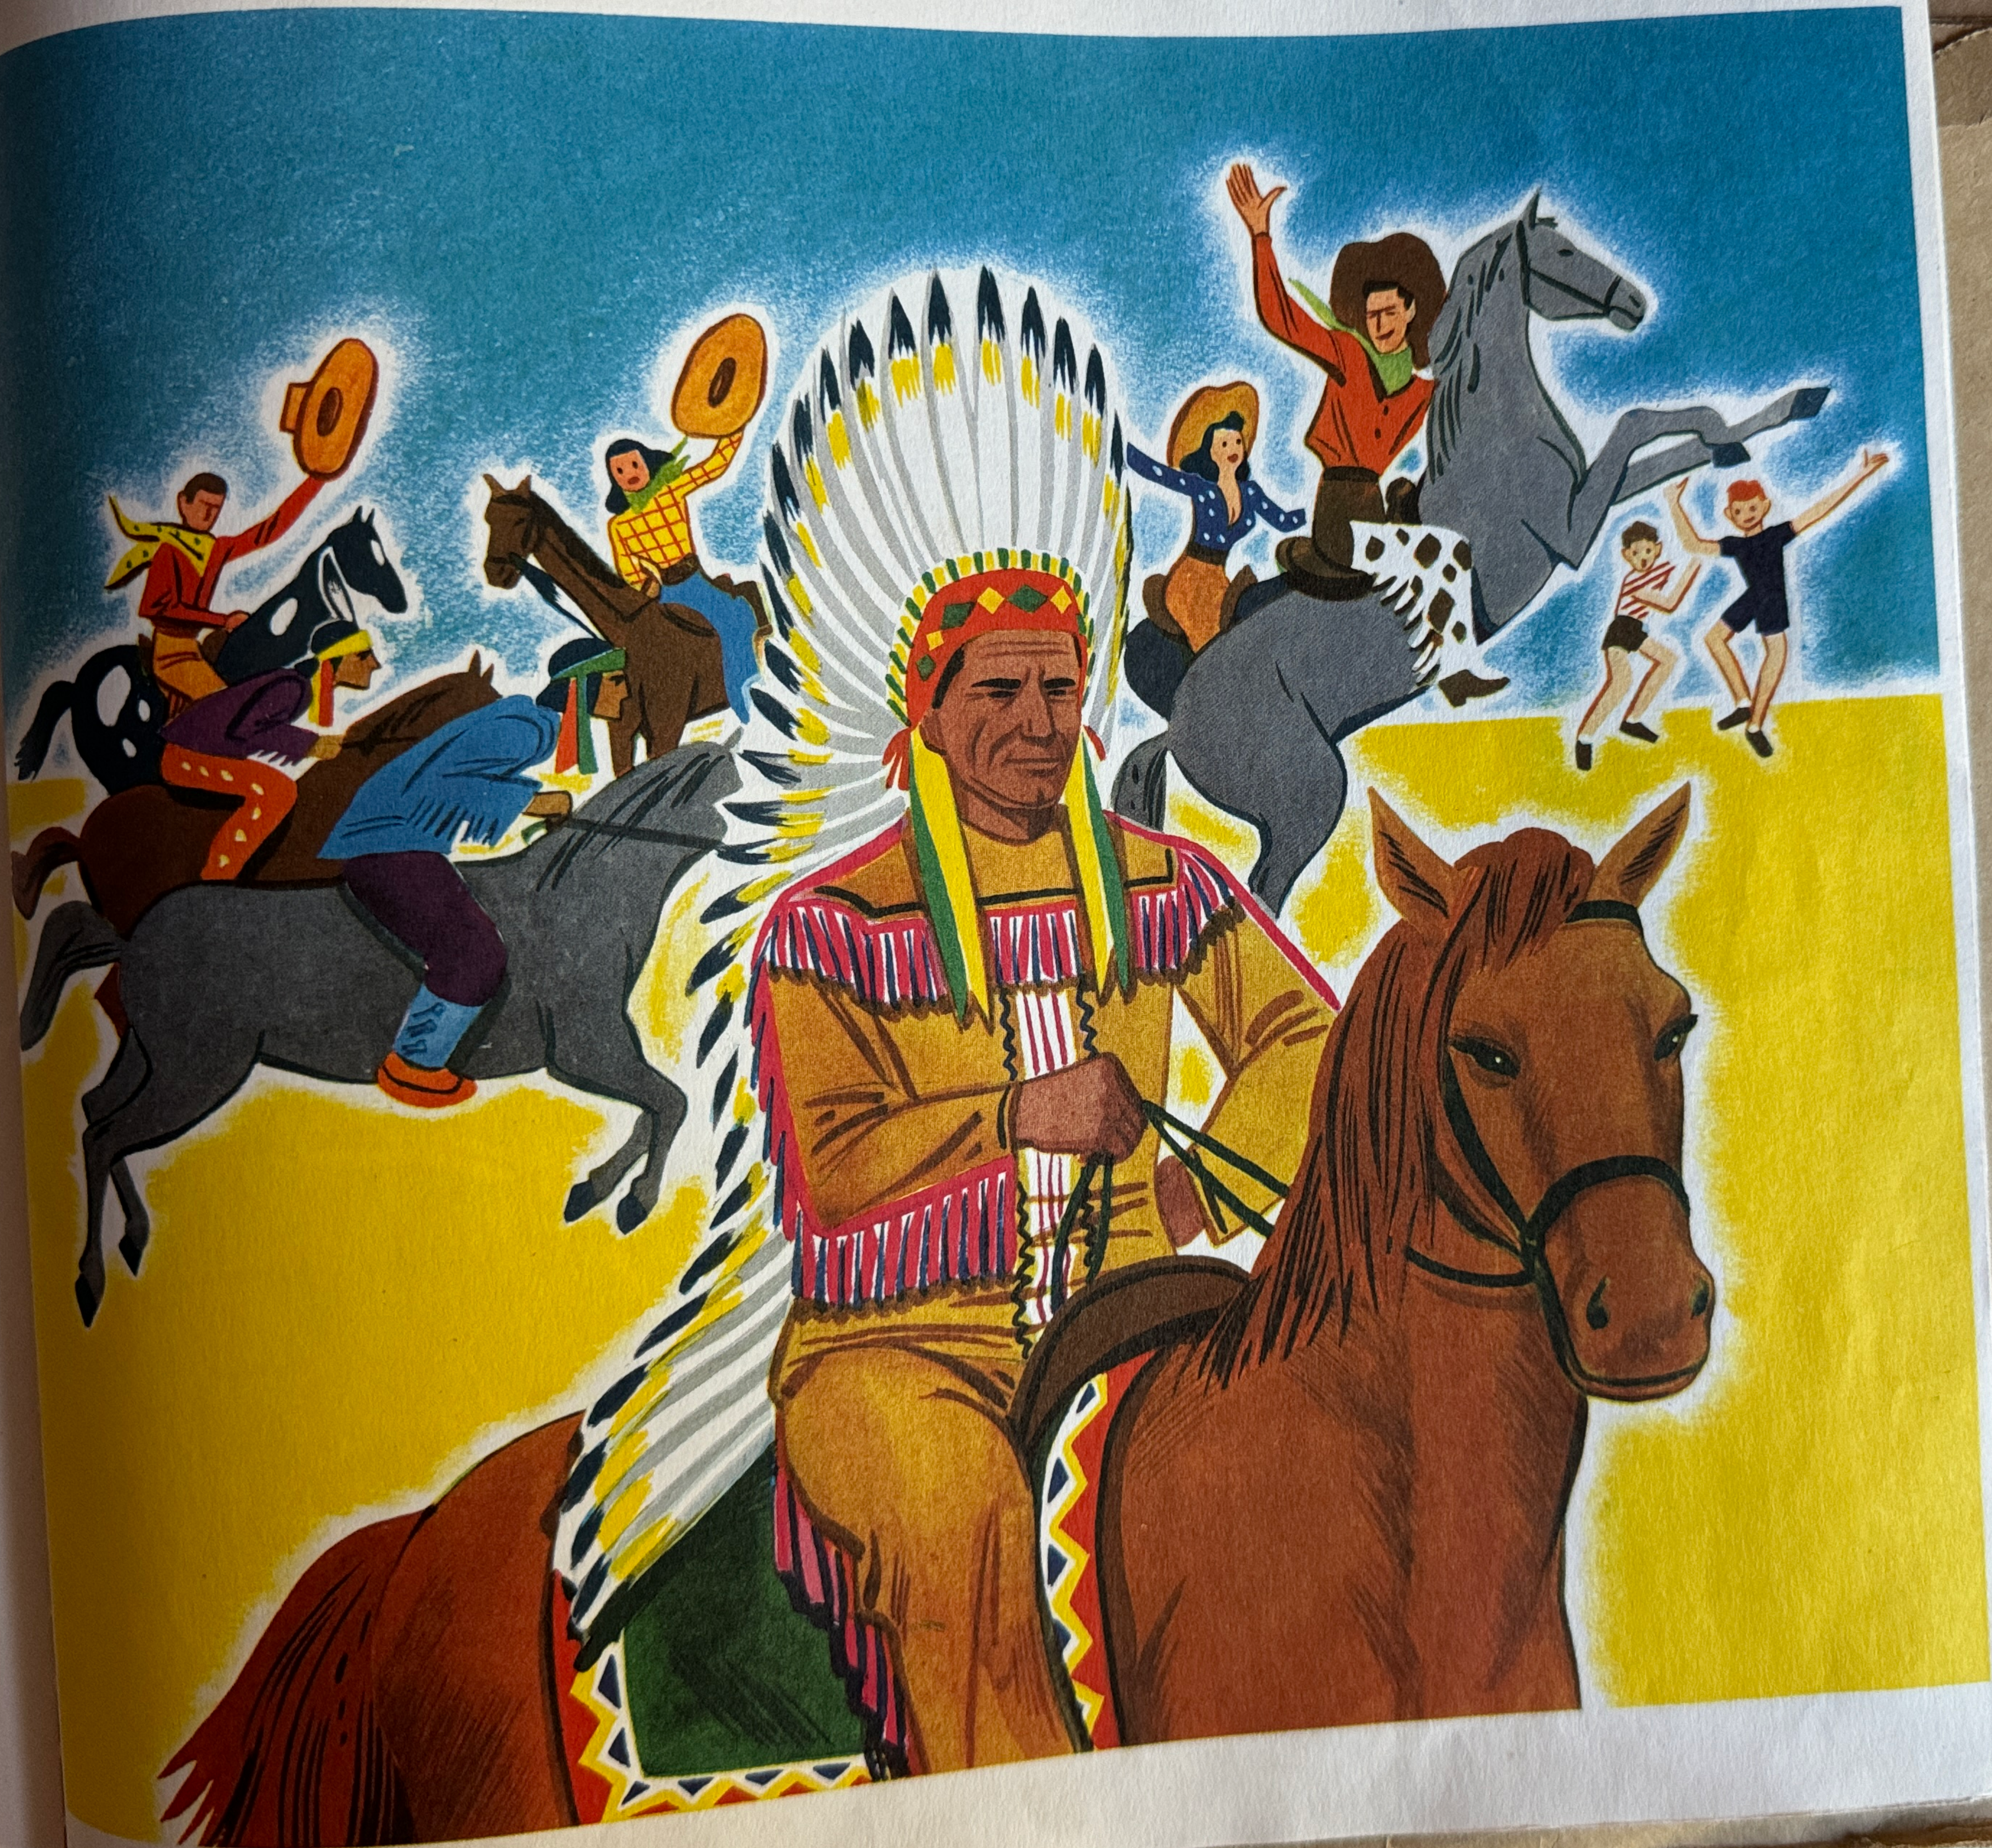

RINGMASTER: Look at this pretty girl
Swinging far out on the trapeze!
She is so high up in the tent.
I hope she doesn't fall –
When you sit on a swing some time
You'll know how she feels.

RINGMASTER: Here are the cowboys and cowgals!
And there right in the center is big chief
Thunder Cloud,
And his Indian braves.
Their faces are painted with war paint.
Will you say something Chief?

INDIAN: Ugh! Me big Chief Thunder Cloud!
Me very brave.
Good hunter.
Kill many buffalo with bow and arrow.
Hear my war-cry.

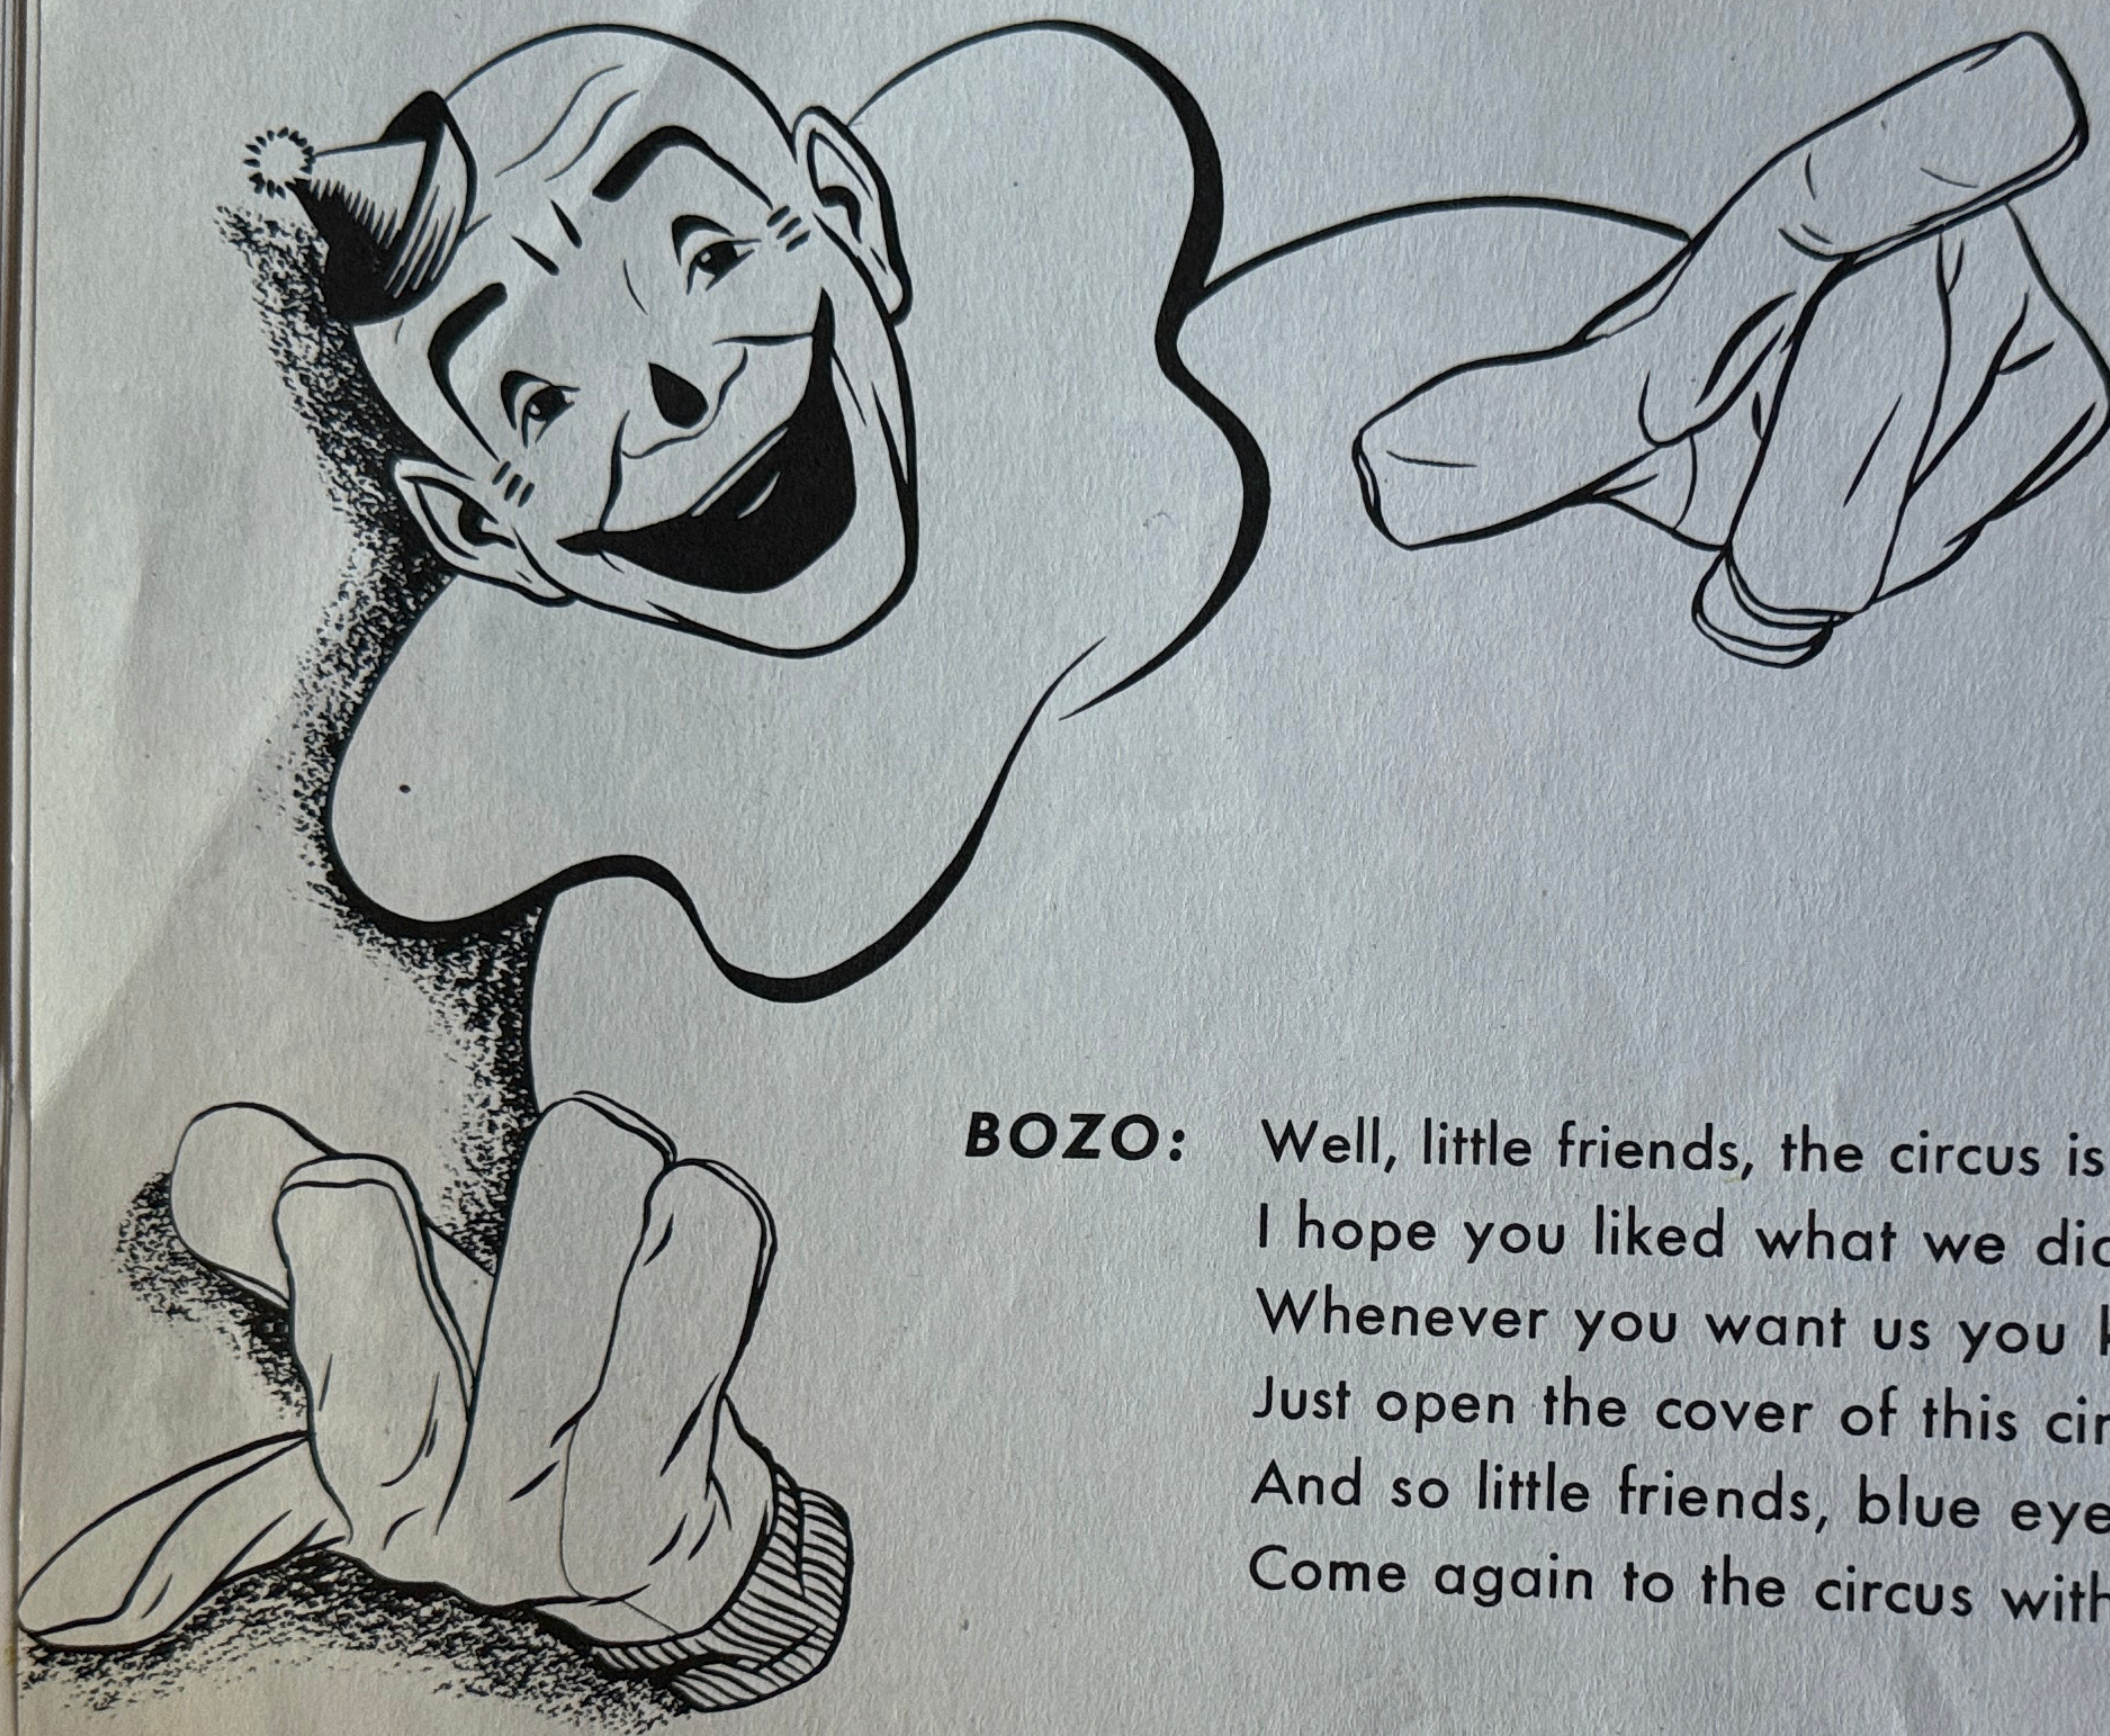

RINGMASTER: The clowns are next!
There's Bozo, dressed in a fireman's suit!
Look at that one with the bright red hair.
There's one with a little pig in his arms!
Look at the giant holding the midget.
Hey, Bozo, come over here
And say something to the chilluns!

BOZO: Well, little friends, the circus is through.
I hope you liked what we did for you.
Whenever you want us you know where to look,
Just open the cover of this circus book.
And so little friends, blue eyes or brown,
Come again to the circus with Bozo, the clown!

BOZO at the Circus

A Children's Book That "Talks"

FOR THE first time in recording history, Capitol presents an entertaining story for children that is ingeniously synchronized with sight and sound.

★ When Bozo, the Clown, blows his whistle (on the recordings) it is the signal for the listener to turn a page. The book and the discs tell the story of the circus, and Bozo's jovial voice takes the juvenile listener on an exciting tour of the Big Top. Every animal is introduced. Stars of the sideshows are heard. And through all, the colorful circus band performs in high style to lend realism to the setting.

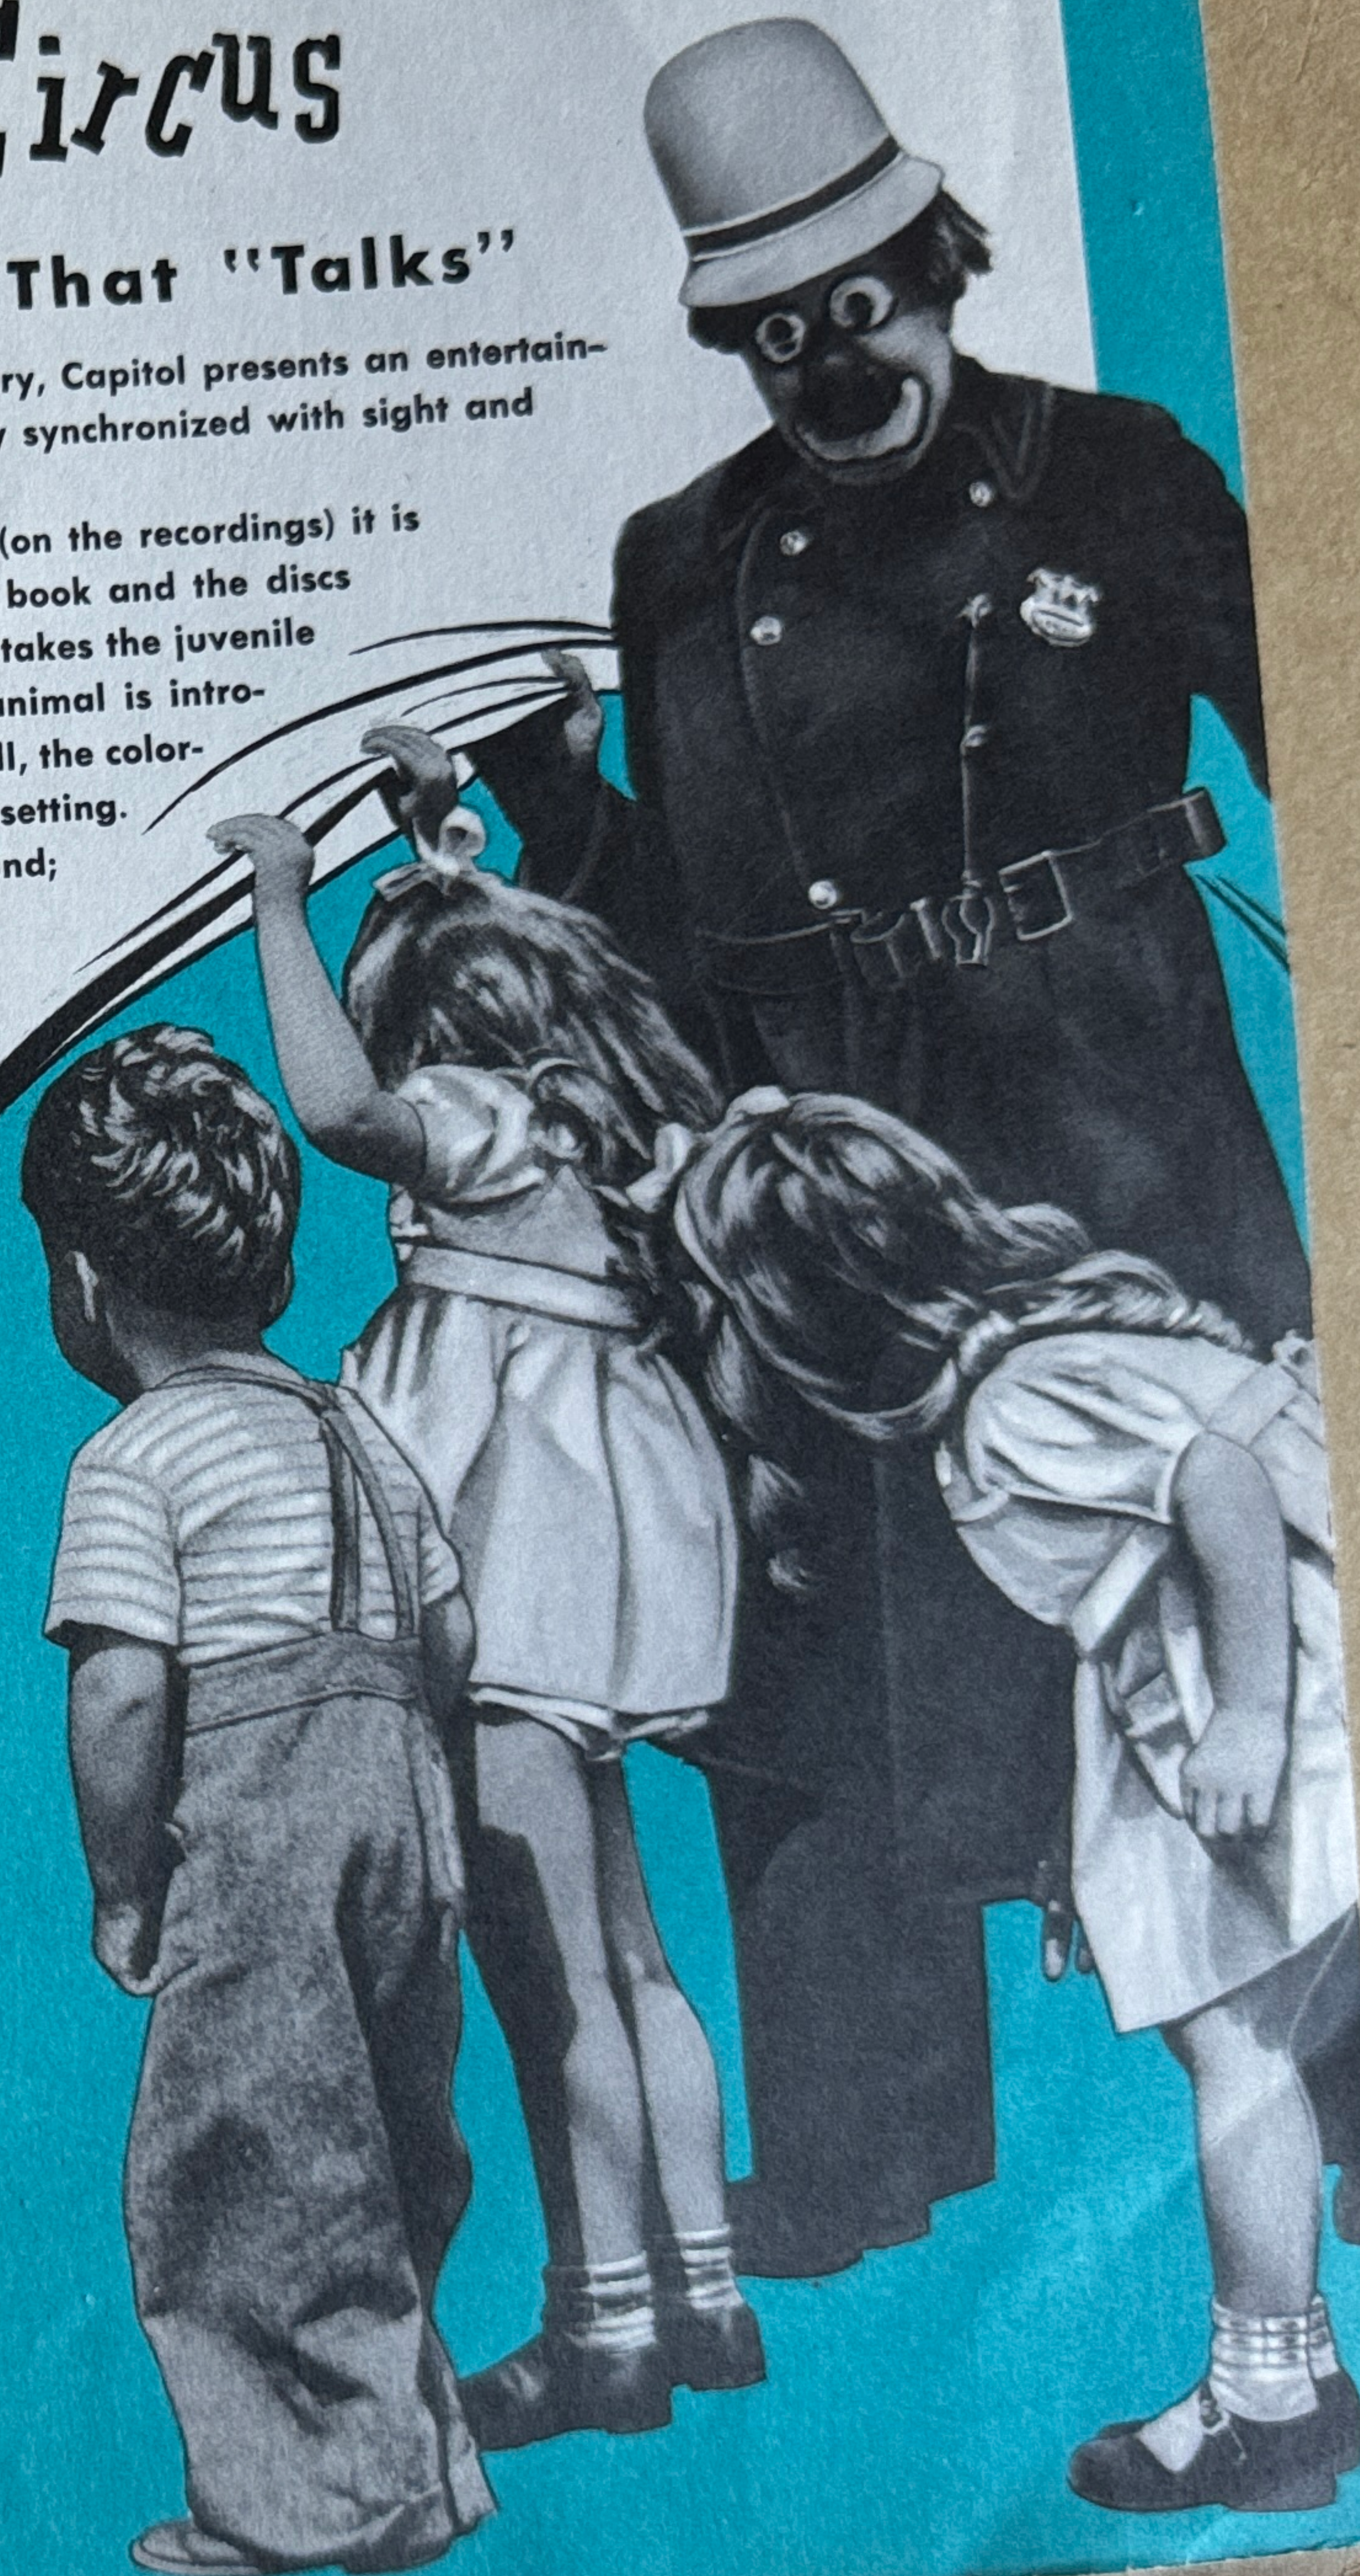

★ Never before has sight been so accurately combined with sound; it is educational as well as amusing. A child too young to read has no difficulty following the action as he watches the pictures and listens for Bozo's whistle and narration.

★ Here is captured the authentic atmosphere of the circus. Bozo, the Clown, is actually Pinto Colvig, a former circus clown whose versatile voice is featured in many of Walt Disney's film productions as "Goofy," "Pluto, the pup," "Grumpy" and other famed Disney characters. Mr. Colvig's technical advice regarding the circus and circus life insures the accuracy of the story.

★ In addition to Colvig, Billy Bletcher, who recorded the voice of the "Big Bad Wolf," for the Disney production, and Sara Berner, noted radio actress, are heard impersonating the various animals housed under the big tent.

★ The script, by Walter Hannan, one of Hollywood's most talented young writers, was written on a theme conceived by Alan W. Livingston. The music throughout "Bozo At The Circus" has been composed, arranged and conducted by Billy May, capable radio conductor, who spent many months engaged in research. His use of the calliope ingeniously reflects the "feel" of the circus, and cleverly serves to complement the spoken words of Pinto in introducing and interviewing the various animals. Illustrations contained in this book are by the Axelson Studios of Hollywood, artists for many major companies and picture studios.

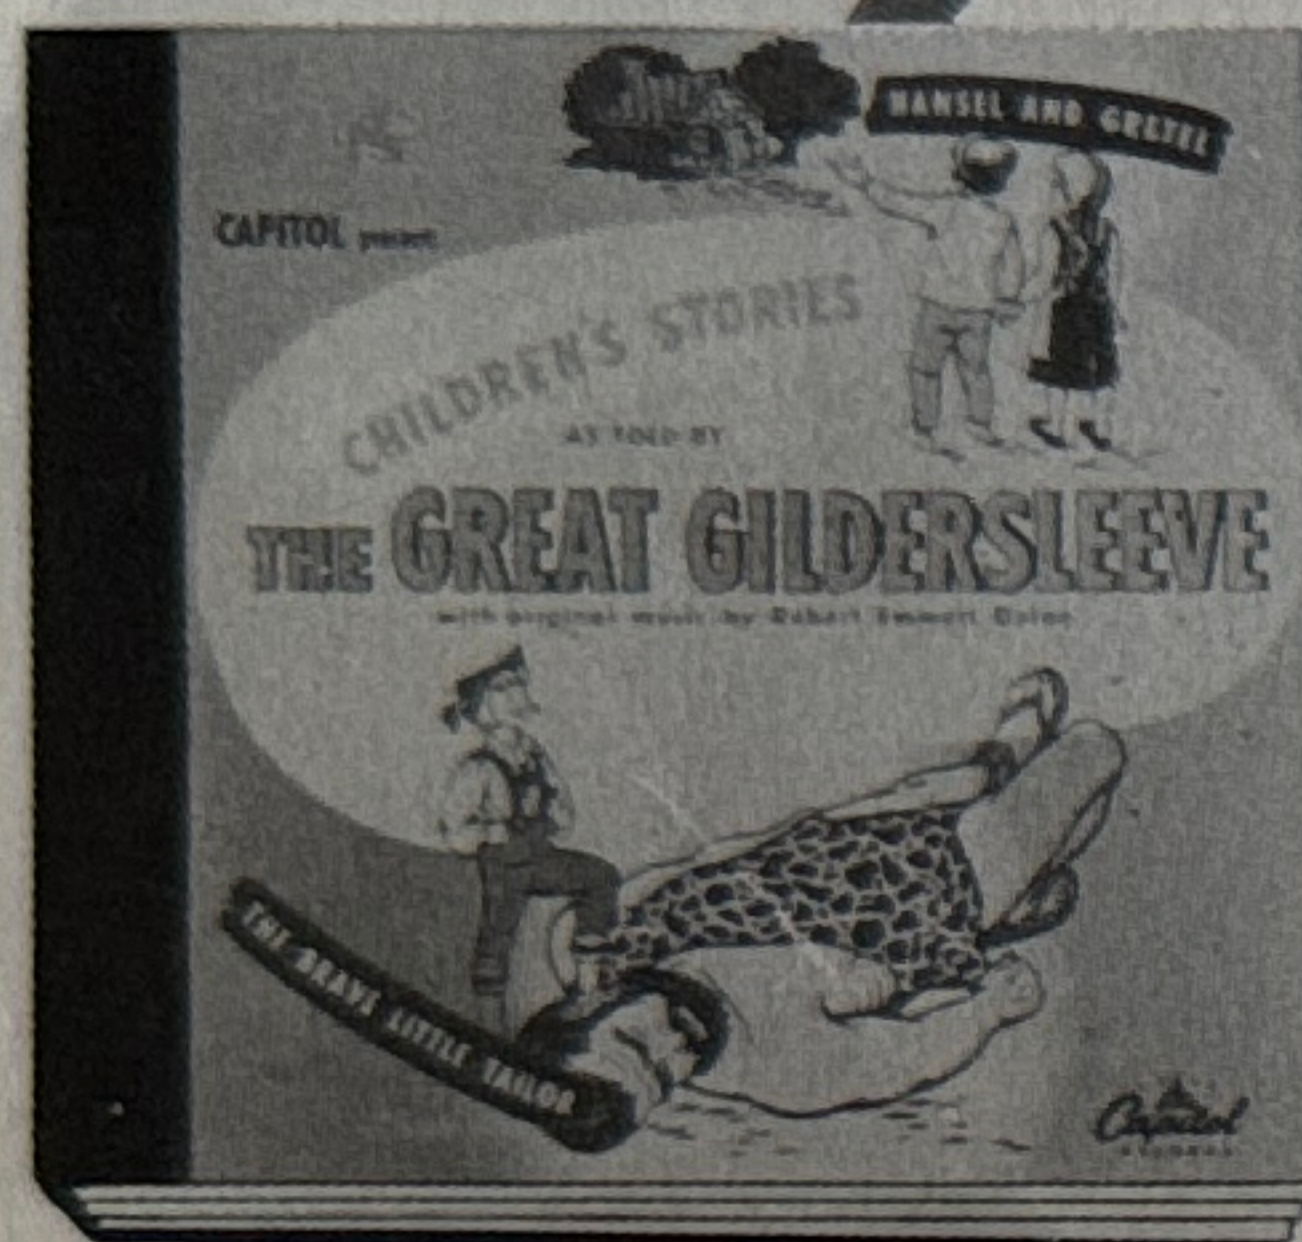

★ Here, then, is a novel contribution to recording of which Capitol is proud; a combination that parents will find both entertaining and instructive for their youngsters. The band plays, the animals talk and Bozo tells the story. But remember to turn the page when he blows his whistle!
